A STEP ABOVE THE REST

A STEP ABOVE THE REST! Isn't this what most schools think of themselves? Although a claim like this is difficult to prove, it is true that as the winter season ended, DHS was at the top of the heap in the Northeast Hoosier Conference by 11 points. In its second year, NHC competition included academic and other activities as well as athletic.

There are many things to be said about the 1990-1991 school year. It was the year of construction, as we all had to walk farther from the parking lot, and classes were sometimes interrupted by sounds of hammering or drilling. It was also the year of Operation Desert Storm, the War in the Gulf. Many Barons wore yellow ribbons or buttons in support of friends or relatives in the military, and felt a renewed sense of pride in our country.

Other memories — some good, others bad — will linger: the Baron Brigade's seventh place finish at state; girls' cross country's first-ever trip to state; the boys' basketball team going winless in the regular season and then winning the first two games in the sectional; no snow days; and the accidental deaths of Eric Wolfe and Mike Carper on their way to school.

There are individual memories we also have from the year: finally getting a driver's license or a car; breaking up with someone we had thought was special; going to Florida for spring break; barely passing a required class after getting a "smoke-out" every nine-weeks; or maybe this was the year when that all-important career decision was made.

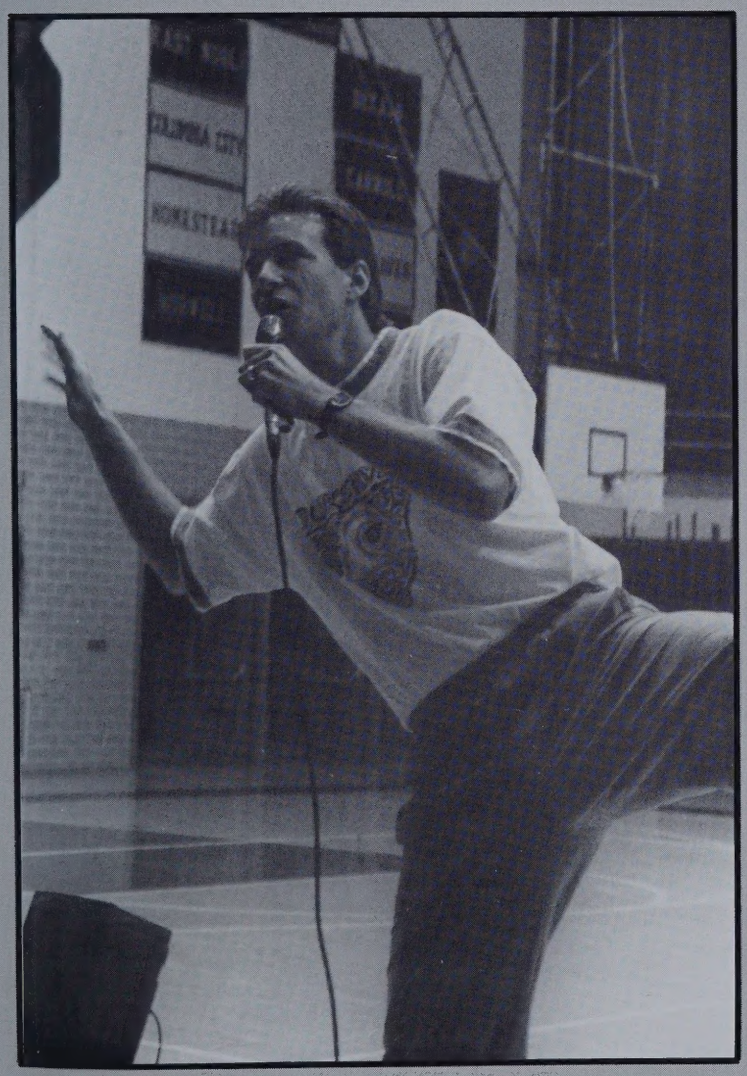
No matter what our individual memories might be, as a group the year saw DHS constantly striving to do our best to stay . . . A STEP ABOVE THE REST!

AFTER STEPPING OUT to another cross country victory, Kim Reinoehl and Justine Wells get some refreshment. The girls' team went all the way to the state finals for the first time ever.

TAKING A GIANT STEP toward building school spirit, a pep bonfire, held near the football field, attracts many boosters of Baron fall activities to encourage them to do their best.

STEPPING ALONG to a marching beat, the Baron Brigade marches in an evening parade at the DeKalb County Fair. The Brigade later equaled its best finish ever by placing seventh in the state marching contest.

DOING THEIR BEST as they take the D.A.R.E. (Drug Awareness Resistance Education) message to the students at the middle school are several members of the senior class: Laurie Dendinger, Stef Schlosser, Nick Keller, Stu Kruse, and Tom Allison.



ENCOURAGING EVERYONE to do his or her best, Bill Sanders presents his message "Show the World Your Greatness" to an assembly in the gym.

DOING HIS BEST to hold still so that Mrs. Sycamore can capture him on canvas is Tony Wells as Mr. DePinna in "You Can't Take It With You."

Fair

and ACD Days get many Barons involved

Both ACD Days and the DeKalb County Fair have been times of fun-filled excitement not only for the high school students, but also for the teachers, families, and visitors that come to town for the festivities as well.

The Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Festival, especially, draws visitors to our community from all over the country. Teacher Mr. Bill Jones, who helps with activities during ACD Days, commented, "It's a great thing for the Auburn community and financially it's a real plus for DeKalb High School, but it takes a lot of work."

Although this period of ACD Days was fun and exciting, high school students had to take on many responsibilities. Some helped take tickets, park cars, work in concession stands, and wash cars. Their help was not only greatly appreciated, but they also helped raise money for the school's athletic and music departments. According to Tyler Barhydt, senior, it also helped the community. "I think the ACD is very helpful to the community because it provides a great number of people to increase in the income of many of the businesses in town."

WAITING PATIENTLY for the decision of the judges is Stacy Robinette. Stacy was one of DHS's representatives in the Miss DeKalb County competition during the DeKalb Free Fall Fair.

The other big event in the fall, the DeKalb County Fall Fair, was the hot spot for the week of September 24 to 29. Every day after school many Barons went to the fair to socialize. According to fun-loving senior Ryan Deignan, "The fair was so heart warming and loving to me. I wish we could have a 365 day all year around fair for party animals like myself. I love the carnies that never shave. They remind me of Santa Claus!"

WASTING HIS MONEY at the fair, Jason Harper tries his best to win at the basketball game.

Keep Busy

Barons find much to fill the time after school hours

Are those DHS students you see working in restaurants, gas stations, and clothing stores? Yes, they are no other than your fellow classmates! Although some of us may be lazy, many of us do have jobs. Many students need jobs to earn money to keep up with the activities they are involved in in their spare time. Others of us use the money we earn to buy clothes in the latest styles, to keep our cars running, or to save up for college. Renting videos and going to concerts were two other popular things to do with our hard-earned cash.

Is there life after a long day or week of school? Most students will agree that's when the action begins. Which leads us to the question: what is spare time? Some believe spare time is shooting paint balls (a popular new sport), driving three-wheelers, or just cruising around. Others found enjoyment in less productive activities like trashing people's houses and vehicles. Toilet-papering your best friend's house twice in one night has been known to happen. Boy, the stock in toilet paper must really go up when DHS students get busy!

This leaves us with the main point that whether they hang out at the local hot spot or somewhere else — or if they spend their spare time earning big bucks — DHS students have proved that they definitely keep busy in their spare time.

Couple

stays together as family backgrounds clash

Moss Hart and George Kaufman's comedy "You Can't Take It With You" filled the auditorium stage on the evenings of November 9 and 10.

The play tells of two families with widely different backgrounds who are brought together by a romance between Alice Sycamore and Tony Kirby. When Tony's family shows up the night before a scheduled get-acquainted dinner, the differences between the families become painfully obvious and lead to a temporary break-up of the couple. However, Alice's grandfather, Martin Vanderhoff finally manages things so that the couple is reunited.

"LET'S SEE WHAT we've cooked up." Paul Sycamore (Tim Strawser) and Mr. DePinna (Tony Wells) examine one of their homemade firecrackers.

Preparations did not always go as the director wished. With construction progressing in the area of the stage, the cast faced numerous obstacles. A temporary roof over the stage area developed leaks which meant that the stage crew needed to man the buckets and mops to clean up the large puddles that formed. In addition, breezy days led to noise competition from this same roof as it cracked in the wind.

Another challenge facing the cast and crew was the special effects, especially the fireworks. The set's walls made it hard to hear the cues, but everything went fine for the actual performance — with one minor exception.

Mrs. Shelley Johnson, the director, was assisted by a production staff of many individuals. Heading the list of these is Jason Morton, junior, who was the student director of the play. Although Jason also enjoys acting, his first love is the technical aspect of stage productions. "I really like being involved in the management of the play," he said.

THOUGHTFULLY WATCHING the play's action are Paul Sycamore and Ed Carmichael (Matt Keller).

"WE SURVIVED," say the office secretaries as they prepare to move to the new office.

TAKING THE EASY WAY, Joe Wurm helps to move books into the new media center.

Chaos

is avoided as construction moves ahead

Over the 1990-1991 school year, students and faculty experienced many changes. DHS was rapidly expanding and by the end of the year, the building project was nearly finished.

When school opened in the fall, the main office, including guidance, was housed in very cramped quarters on the second floor. The media center had its temporary quarters on the south balcony of the gym. The first phase of the construction was completed about Christmas time when the offices were moved downstairs into newly expanded quarters.

The new south wing, ready for use by March, houses the vocational and industrial arts, and speech, art, and special education classes. When they moved in, renovation was started in their former rooms to turn them into business rooms.

USING THOSE MUSCLES, wrestling team members Mike Hostetler, Jon Gallogly, and Shane Kenner work during Christmas break to help move library materials into the new addition.

The rest of the construction was scheduled to be finished by the start of the next school year. Included in this were a new auxiliary gym, including special rooms for weight training and wrestling, a new instrumental music room, a remodeled vocal music room, and new classrooms for health, physical education, and driver education. The total cost of the project was estimated to be in the neighborhood of $17 million.

By the end of the year, students were encouraged to see that construction was nearly completed and that by the start of the next year both they and the faculty would be able to have a peaceful year, without all the loud hammering and interruptions.

Xmas

is one holiday almost everyone enjoys celebrating

Everyone looks forward to holidays. There are many events during each holiday at DHS that students take part in. Christmas is the holiday that all students celebrate, either just because it's the week we get out or school or by helping in the food drive or sending a Treegram to a special friend.

This year's food drive was a big success. The room that was used to hold the collected food ended up to be too small as each homeroom hurried to become the one with the most collected food. After the smoke cleared, Mr. Boyd's class had contributed more than any other — averaging 32.9 cans per student.

BRIGADIER Shawn Gonzalez seems happy entertaining the crowd at halftime of a basketball game for a Christmas show.

Of course, Christmas Day itself was not celebrated at school, but with loved ones at home. Among the more unusual gifts reported to us were sunflower seeds and a duck blow drier.

Other holidays were celebrated in various ways. For Veterans Day students gathered in the auditorium to listen to local veterans about their experiences in past wars. One spoke of how you should support your country even if you disagree with what it is doing.

Valentine's Day was celebrated by selling carnations to be sent to friends during home room. This year's semi-formal also fell on Valentines Day.

Whether you were a shower, pumpkin, or yourself, everyone had a good time for Halloween. Selling Boograms was another way this holiday was celebrated. St. Patrick's Day kicked off spring break, and even Easter was celebrated by the selling of Egg-grams.

Dances

provide chance for Barons to relax, enjoy

Loud music and colored lights set the atmosphere for all of the dances held at DHS. After-game dances were the most popular. Barons slipped away for a few hours to celebrate a victory or just to have fun.

Most dances included special themes or activities. One dance was the limbo dance sponsored by the German Club. Others were the jail break dance and a dance that included a date sale, where National Honor Society members, along with some other people including Board of Education President Nancy McNabb, were sold to their classmates. If you bought someone, that person had to take you out. Many students took advantage of the dance to get to know that special someone.

The Valentine's semi-formal gave couples a fun-filled night of romance. The beautifully decorated walls and tables helped set the scene in the Commons. Seniors Carrie Raver and Jeremy Cassady were named king and queen of the dance.

Sadie Hawkins gave everyone a chance to get out their old, ugly clothes and have fun.

Students had favorites as far as who provided the music. One student commented, "When the Killer Bee came to our dance for the first time and played the song 'YMCA' we all stood on chairs and danced to it. We also spelled the letters out with our arms."

Every dance seemed to be enjoyed by just about everyone who attended them. You couldn't help but have fun!

Pride

in American sweeps the country as the nation goes to war

A new wave of patriotism was sweeping across the country in 1990 and 1991 and DeKalb County was no exception. There were many reasons for this, but the major one seems to have been the invasion of Kuwait on August 2, 1990, by the armed forces of Iraq under the direction of Saddam Hussein. The war that ultimately resulted caused nearly all Americans to rally in support of the troops that had been sent to the Persian Gulf area, although not everyone favored the war itself.

Following the invasion, the UN Security Council imposed economic sanctions on Iraq on August 6. On the same day President Bush ordered deployment of U.S. troops to Saudi Arabia on the invitation of that country. "Operation Desert Shield" was under way, and from then until early in 1991 more and more troops were moved into the area.

On Nov. 29 the UN Security Council passed a resolution giving Iraq until Jan. 15 to pull out of Kuwait. The deadline came and went, so at 3 a.m. on Jan. 17 (or 7 p.m. Jan. 16 our time) the air war began with a bombing raid on Baghdad. "Operation Desert Storm" was now under way.

When Hussein ignored the Feb. 23 deadline for unconditional withdrawal, General H. Norman Schwarzkopf moved the troops against Iraqi positions and by Feb. 27 Kuwait City was liberated and Americans had a new sense of pride.

The feelings of Tonya Dove, junior, are typical of many Americans: "My feelings about the U.S. have changed in that I've started to realize that people here really do care and I've become thankful for all the things I have and had just been taking for granted."

Revue

entertains audience as Brigs, bands display talents

It was "Monday Night Live" on the auditorium stage on March 11 for the annual talent presentation usually known as the Baron Revue. Members of the Pep Band, Jazz Band, and Brigadiers joined together and pooled their talents in order to put the show together.

The Revue consisted primarily of a series of dance numbers featuring members of the Brigadiers, interspersed with humorous skits and individual musical talent numbers.

The Brigadiers, accompanied by the Pep Band, performed to "Shine Down," "Cold Hearted Nation," "You Lost That Lovin' Feeling," "On Broadway," "Everybody Dance Now," "School's Out," and "Bat Man." The Jazz Band also delighted the audience with four numbers.

PREPARING TO MIX UP a new beverage, John Haney explains to the audience how the blender (Bass-o-matic) will work as he holds up the piece of fish that he intends to use for the concoction.

Performing vocal presentations were Londa Louthan, "My Father's Eyes"; Addam Camp, "Witchcraft"; and Collene McNabb, "Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend." Tiffani Cook and Ben Peverly played instrumental solos and other talents included Alison Hoff's ballet, Michelle Mitchell's baton solo, and Chanda Conkle's dance.

The humorous skits, interrupted at least twice by the Energizer Bunny, included take-offs on Julia child's cooking show, Saturday Night Live's Grumpy Old Man and Wayne's World, and a thrilling hemorrhoid commercial to the tune of "Rawhide."

The program ended with the playing of "I'm Proud to Be an American" in honor of Desert Storm soldiers and sailors.

Poll

names the top seniors in many categories

The Class of 1991 had among its members many outstanding individuals who seemed to be destined to achieve excellence in a variety of fields. In the Spring of '91, while the rest of the student body was busy taking ISTEP and achievement tests, the seniors met together and one of their activities was to cast their votes for their classmates in a variety of categories. The results are simply the composite of their opinions and nothing more.

Most Likely to Succeed: Julie Whittington won for the girls and Stu Kruse for the guys, with Andrew Kruse a close second.

Most School Spirit: There was a tie for the girls between Stef Schlosser and Alison Hoff, while John Haney won for the guys.

Best Personality: Julie Whittington and Cal Bowers were the winners, but 25 different seniors were named for both male and female categories.

Class Clown: Joy Kroemer and Ryan Deignan were the overwhelming favorites.

Most Athletic: Joy Kroemer and Cal Bowers were again their classmates' choice.

SPIRITED John Haney, active in many DHS activities, takes a brief break in his computer programming class.

Neatest Car or Truck: Jim Leslie and Cara Stephens got the nod here.

Most Studious: There was no doubt about Andrew Kruse, but Laurie Clevenger and Julie Whittington got an equal number of votes.

Best Dressed: Sarah Schmidt and Jeremy Cassady were the winners.

Most Talented: Geoff Preston was selected, while Joy Kroemer's name again appeared for the girls.

Biggest Partier: Brian Bergner won handily, but the vote was too close among several girls to declare a winner.

Most Valuable: After spending all of their middle and high school years together, the class selected Julie Whittington and Cal Bowers for this category.

PERSONABLE Julie Whittington, right, distributes "Boograms," which was a project of the Student Council.

STUDIOUS Andrew Kruse works on raising the grading curve on a test in government class.

VALUABLE AND ATHLETIC Cal Bowers, class president, follows through after throwing the discus.

MAKING NEW FRIENDS was one activity of Tyler Barhydt and Eric Tomaszewski in Jamaica.

SHOPPING in Kansas City, Alison Hoff and Tonya Dove found this large shopping cart.

ENJOYING Florida are the girls in Shells in Daytona Beach, center above, and the Campus Life group at MGM Studios.

COMPETING in the bull riding contest at the Indiana High School Rodeo in Milan was a Spring Break activity for Joe Butler.

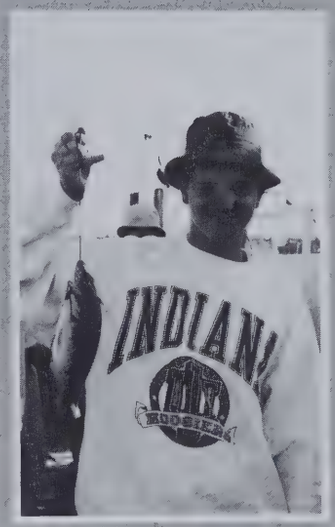
for spring gives Barons much needed time off

Although the weather in DeKalb County during Spring Break was not too bad, many Barons were not satisfied with that, so they headed south, with Florida being the main destination. Many took part in Campus Life's annual trip to Disney World and the Orlando area.

Daytona Beach, famous for its college crowds, attracted several. Shannen Amburgey, Angie Cool, Angie Haskins, and Joy Pepple enjoyed performing live on stage in front of a crowd of thousands.

On the way back from Daytona Beach, one group of girls shared rides with some guys from Kentucky.



AT FT. MYERS Chris Skelding enjoyed the sunny skies and warm temperatures while fishing. Here he is holding one that didn't get away.

One car got separated from the rest and Rachel Sarbacker ended up having to go to her dad's house in Kentucky in order to get a ride back home.

In the "small world" category, Shawna and Chris Skelding thought that they were away from school, but they ran into a group of teachers, including Mr. Bush and Mr. Koehl, who were also enjoying Florida's warmth.

Tropical islands attracted some. Tyler Barhydt and Eric Tomaszewski enjoyed Jamaica and had fun cliff diving, which will probably NOT become a varsity sport at DHS.

Closer to home, Craig Halliday, Alex Pinnington, Chad Seiler, and Ryan Erwin went to Indy for two days to watch the Indy cars test. Their major problem was with Alex's car having a muffler break-down, which took about a half day and lots of noise in an expensive apartment complex to fix.

CRUISING in the Bahamas, Doni Korff, Carrie Raver, and Laurie Dendinger enjoyed themselves, while Tricia Gurtner and Julie McKean were in St. Petersburg, above.

Street

in New York City comes alive on auditorium stage

The street it's named for may be in New York City, but for two evenings in April, "42nd Street" could be found on the stage of the DHS auditorium. The play includes such classic show tunes as "Lullaby of Broadway," "Getting to be a Habit with Me," and "Shuffle off to Buffalo."

"42nd Street" tells of a young girl just new in the big city who gets a job in the chorus line. Then she gets a big break when the star of the show is unable to continue in her role. Jenny Dunn played the part of Peggy Sawyer, the newcomer to New York.

The production proved to be more difficult than had been expected. The play involves a lot of tap dancing, with production numbers for the large chorus. Fortunately, Jenny Dunn had a strong background in tap, so she was able to choreograph her own numbers while the directors worked with the chorus. Mrs. Shelley Johnson directed the musical and Jessica Goldsmith was the student director. The sets were designed by Mr. Kent Johnson.

The costumes provided a big challenge to cast members with some having as many as 8 or 9 changes during the course of the play. Changes had to be made in a hurry with modesy sometimes taking a back seat.

The pit band, always a key element in a musical production, found the score to be a real challenge, since the music had been written for professional musicians, not high school students. Mr. Richard Karkosky conducted the pit band.

PUTTING the chorus members through their paces is Brent Troxell as Andy, the dance director of the play being produced during the musical "42nd Street."

UNSURE of what he is hearing from Dorothy Brock (Angie Sproat) is Pat Denning (Chad Depew).

IN THE PLAY within the play, chorus members dance to the tune of "42nd Street."

Tricia

Gurtner, Chad Wolff reign as queen, king of 1991 prom

"Wonderful Tonight" was the theme for the 1991 Junior-Senior Prom. Held on Saturday, May 4, it lived up to its billing. The colors chosen by the junior class to decorate the middle school commons were gold, teal, and black. The grand march, held in the gym, started at 8 p.m. It provided a special opportunity for each couple to be recognized. The bleachers were packed with family and friends to witness this grand display.

In case the special dinners before the dance had not been enough food for the prom-goers and they still had an appetite, cake, punch, and other snack foods were served to give them extra energy.

JUNIORS had help providing a memorable setting for the prom. Sophomore Diane Richardson spends part of Friday evening trying to make the tables look "just so."

Part of the evening's entertainment was to be an Elvis contest between Addam Camp and Mr. Tim Rayle. However, after Addam performed his number, Mr. Rayle dropped out of the running and acknowledged Addam as the winner.

As the prom came to an end, the king and queen were crowned. Tricia Gurtner and Chad Wolff were chosen by the senior class for this honor. Then drawings were held for cash prizes for those still in attendance. Throughout the evening, couples stood in line to be photographed by Hanes Studio.

As students danced the night away, they tried not to make themselves too tired because they still had a long time to go. Many went to the movies or bowling. Some even found the energy to go to Cedar Point or Kings Island the next day. Others enjoyed a pleasant morning at Mayor Burt Dickman's home.

IT'S EASIER shoeless. Prom-goers turn themselves around as they do the "Hokey Pokey."

Happy

seniors accept many honors at annual Awards Day

It was a nice warm day in DeKalb County on May 15. On that morning, the juniors and seniors met in the auditorium to witness the annual awarding of honors and scholarships to deserving seniors. Scholarships were awarded by school organizations to members who had plans to continue their education.

Many organizations in the community also participated by awarding funds to deserving seniors. Scholarships were also awarded by several memorial trusts.

A few honors were also given to seniors who had made significant contributions to some aspect of the school or for good citizenship.

SMILING as she accepts her award from the Sons of the American Legion is Cathy Murray, one of many seniors honored at the Awards Day program.

Outstanding seniors were named by departments as follows: Tiffani Cook, Art; Amy Brown, Business; Laura Clevenger, English; Greg Wallace, Foreign Language; Clayton Schnelker, Industrial Arts; Jenny Nobles, Math; Angie Sproat, Music; Andrew Kruse, Science; Cal Bowers, Social Studies; Jerry Smith, Vocational Arts.

The following seniors were named as four year honor students: Cal Bowers, Greg Camp, Robin Carper, Laurie Clevenger, Tiffani Cook, Kelly Franks, Barbara Graves, Sheena Groat, Tricia Gurtner, John Haney, Adam Jordan, Andrew Kruse, Stu Kruse, Carleen Lau, and Julie McKean.

Also named as four year honor students were Brandy Mettert, Karrie Miser, Jenny Nobles, Rebecca Pancake, Kerrie Quickery, Nan Roe, Steven Rynearson, Rachel Sarbacker, Sarah Schmidt, Chad Sorg, C.J. Stoops, Greg Wallace, Julie Whittington, and Jennifer Wolf.

Arts

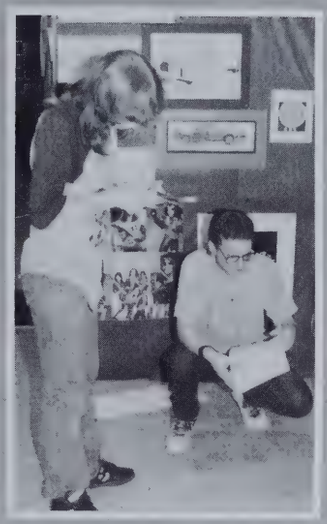
projects are displayed, concerts are held for Festival

The gym became an art gallery as students put their work on display for the Fine Arts Festival, held from May 17th to the 20th.

Gigantic display boards were covered with the year's projects from all of the art classes. Those that couldn't be hung were exhibited on tables, crates, etc., in several eye-catching displays.

The Home Ed Department and the Literary Club also displayed some of their year's projects. There was also a display depicting architecture through the years, showing drawings of various architectural styles.

The music department presented four concerts during the Festival. Friday evening, the choirs presented a formal concert of serious music. After all three choirs performed, awards for the year were presented.



CHECKING out what they still have to hang are art students Jim Prince and Mark Powell.

Saturday evening it was the Jazz Band's turn. A special feature was the return to DHS of grad Jason Phillips with a quintet from DePaul University.

The bands took center stage on Sunday with both major bands performing. The awards program which followed featured the honoring of those underclassmen who had accumlated the most points: Elton Bishop, Patrick Horwitz, and Dan Funk.

Monday evening, the choirs presented a Pops Concert, again featuring all three choirs, but this time their music was on the light side. In addition, several solos were sung by various choir students

Heavy rain can't keep the class of '91 from graduating

The day was June 2, 1991. The place was the Cecil E. Young Field of DeKalb High School — or was it? Graduation 1991 will be remembered by many of the friends and relatives of the Class of '91 as the day they got wet. Those who arrived early for the ceremony were rewarded by Mother Nature with a summer afternoon cloudburst.

There was a period of time during which it was unsure whether the ceremony would be held outside or moved into the gym. By 2:00, the scheduled time for the ceremony, the sky had cleared enough that it was decided to go ahead outside, and the ceremony got started about 2:15. Although a few random rain drops fell after that, the sun was peeking out from behind the clouds.

ALTHOUGH the ceremony got underway later than the scheduled time because of the unscheduled rain that fell shortly before that time, graduation did happen. Above, April McLain and Andy LaTurner march in the Processional.

Senior speakers for the program included Tricia Gurtner, Invocation; Cal Bowers, Welcome; Stuart Kruse, Intention; Julie Whittington, Farewell; and Andrew Kruse, Benediction.

Many graduation parties and receptions were held in the area on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Class members who received the Academic Honors Diploma were Jeff Burda, Brian Camarata, Greg Camp, Robin Carper, Laurie Clevenger, Jenni Dunn, Kelly Franks, Sheena Groat, John Haney, Alison Hoff, Andrew Kruse, Brandy Mettert, Catherine Murray, Jennifer Nobles, Brad Peart, Kerrie Quickery, Nan Roe, Rachel Sarbacker, Sarah Schmidt, and Julie Whittington.

Student Council

Focus On Health, Sadie Hawkins Are Projects

The Student Council represents student government. Its primary purpose is to provide DHS students with a representative voice in school issues and to provide activities for students. Representatives on the council are elected by the members of each class. The officers of all four classes are also Student Council members.

The Council sponsored several activities and events throughout the year. In addition to being responsible for most of the convocations, they also sponsored several dances. The most popular one of these was the Sadie Hawkins dance.

Concern for others was shown. The Red Cross Bloodmobile visit, the Adopt-a-Kid program, and the March of Dimes Walkathon are all examples of this. The Council also sponsored the Focus on Health. In the area of service to the school, members served as guides on parent-teacher conference days.

The addition to the officers, Student Council activities were coordinated by sponsors Mr. Rod Knox and Ms. Jan McCullough.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS: Stu Kruse, President; Nick Keller, Vice-President; Carrie Raver, Secretary; and Stacy Taylor, Treasurer.

Busy Athletes

Letterwinners, FCA Raise Funds, Have Fun

Letterwinners Club and Fellowship of Christian Athletes were both groups designed to get athletes involved in activities other than their major sport. Letterwinners provided concessions at girls and boys basketball games and used the profits for various items in the athletic department. The FCA provided the opportunity to support each other with Christian fellowship.

Letterwinners purchased new conference banners to be put in both gyms and built an athletic scholarship display in the west hall, in addition to funding the athletic pictures which hang on the walls. Members who put in the most hours working in concessions were treated to a special dinner.

In its first year, the FCA had several activities. They held bi-weekly meetings on Sunday afternoons and sponsored a New Year's Eve Lock-in at DHS. Two students attended a fall retreat at the national camp ground in Marshall, IN. To earn money, FCA raffled a game ball at boys basketball games and held a spirit jar contest.

First Year Groups Get Off To Good Start

Two of the new groups this year had their major emphasis on physical activity. After a study by the Board of Education, it was decided to allow soccer to be played as a club sport, since there seemed to be enough interest among the students and it wouldn't be too expensive to run.

The team was established under the guidance of Mr. Tony Finnegan and played a total of 12 matches. The inexperienced Barons won one, tied three and lost eight.

The Baron Power House had as its purpose to educate students about and to promote the positive effects of proper weight training. Of the 88 members, 49 were boys and 39 were girls.

The Baron Power House conducted a successful weight lift-a-thon to raise money. They were able to purchase shirts to honor those who reached certain goals. They also bought some equipment and a stereo system for the new weight room. They participated in the Northeast Indiana Power Lifting Championships in March.

Culture Anyone?

Language Clubs Earn Funds For Scholarships

Spanish Club and German Club both keep their members busy with activities designed to promote a better understanding of the cultures their languages represent and to earn money for scholarships for those who plan to further their education in that language.

The Spanish Club kicked off its year with a pot-luck dinner of authentic hispanic food in cooperation with the Garrett Spanish Cub. They held a Christmas Party for the residents of Betz Nursing Home and had a dinner at ChiChi's. For fund raising, they sold football concessions and sponsored an after-game dance.

Both Spanish and German Clubs took part in the IPFW Foreign Language Festival.

The German Club scholarship was funded by money earned from basketball coat check and baseball concessions. Other activities included a field trip to Frankenmuth, Michigan, and a Christmas Party to which area German Clubs were invited.

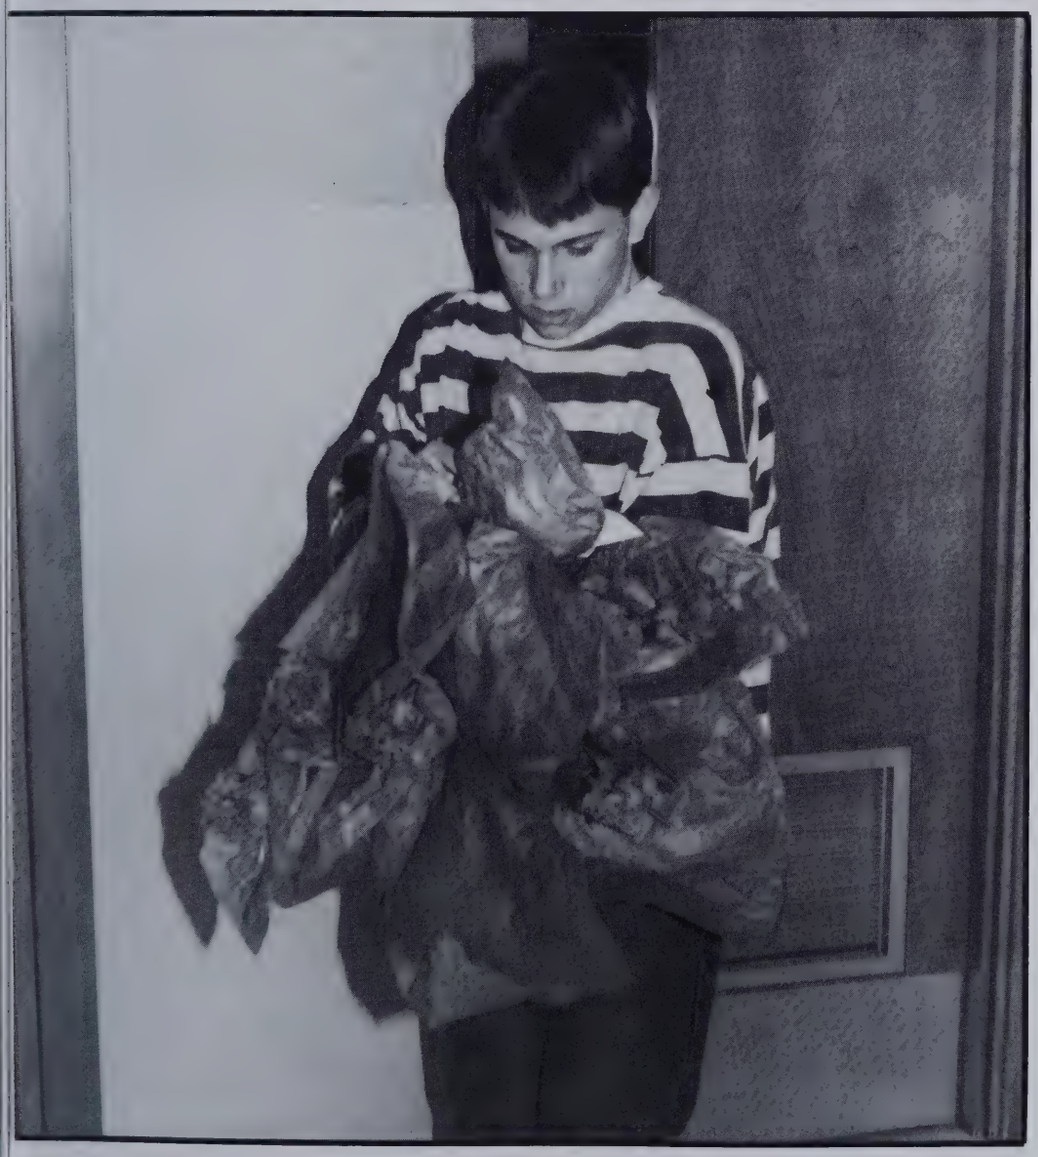
French Video Exchange Highlights Year



Exploring the customs of French-speaking countries was one of the major purposes of the French Club. To accomplish this, the club had a video exchange with three French schools, two in Paris. These half-hour videos were made in both French and English. The major problem with the project was the cost of transferring the video to and from the European format.

The French Club had many other activities through the year including Christmas caroling and a scavenger hunt, all in French, a dance, a Moliere play in Ft. Wayne, and dinner at Le Gourmet. Officers were Matt Bechdol, President; Alison Hoff, Vice-president; Sally Peart, Secretary; and Libby Barry, Treasurer.

The French Club joined together with the German and Spanish Clubs to enjoy the Foreign Language Banquet in February. Foods representing each of the three culture groups were there for everyone to sample. Skits and contests were then held, supposedly to inform the other clubs about your group's cultural background.

SOME LUCKY PEOPLE are about to get a carnation as Brian Thomas is ready to deliver some for the French Club.

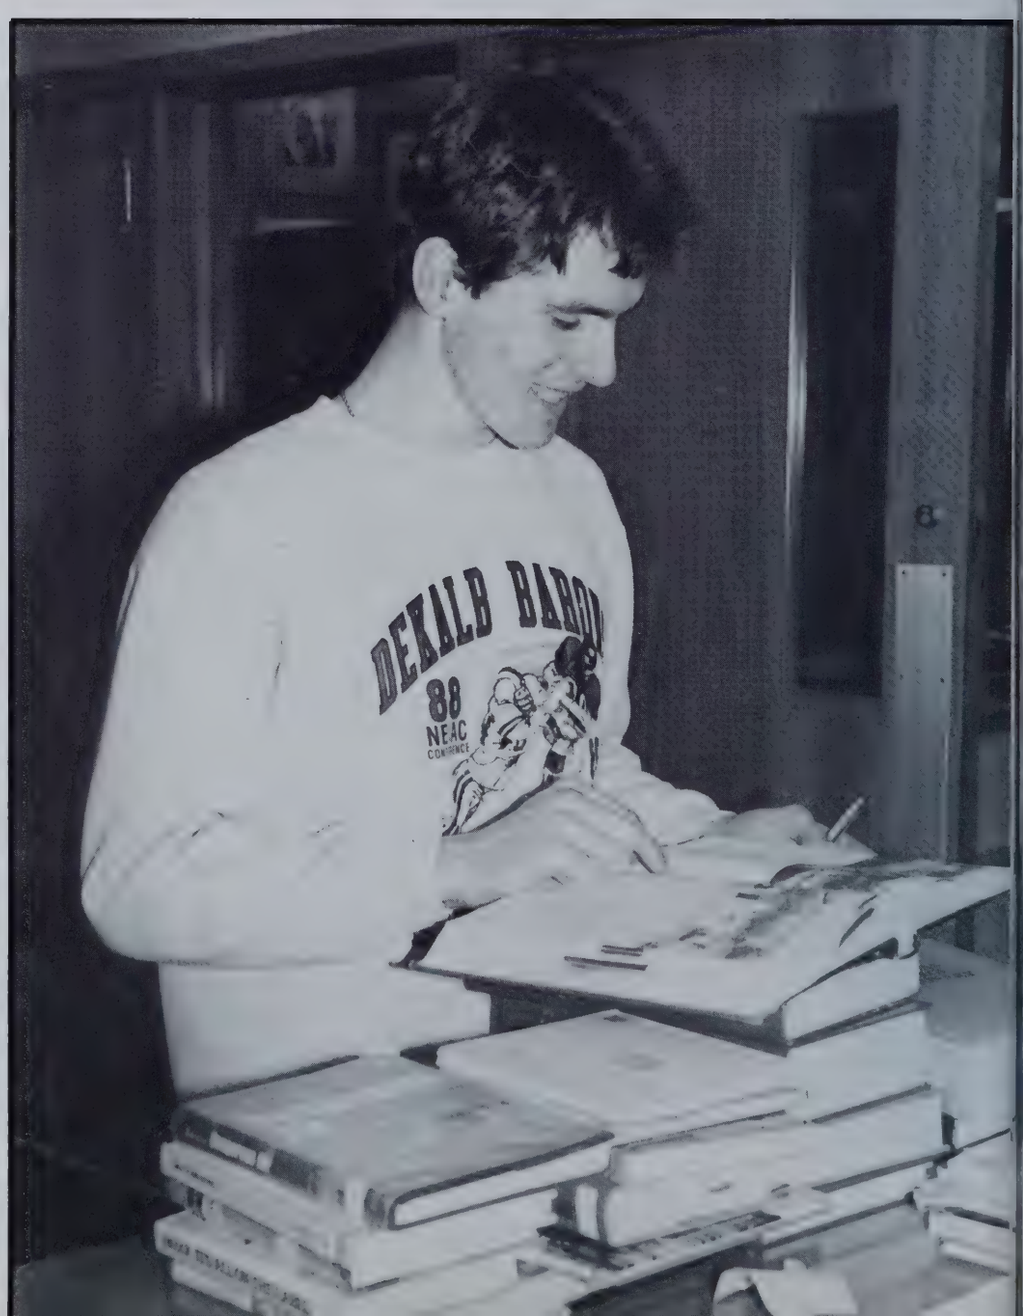
Student Service

Study Hall 'Escapees' Contribute to DHS

Just who are those people you see day after day walking the hallways of DHS? Or how about those students who come into your classroom and do whatever your teacher asks them to do? No, they're not "super brown nosers;" they're student service workers. These students spend usually one hour a day working for the office or for a teacher doing whatever is asked of them.

It's these students who bring the attendance bulletins to your class every second hour. Other jobs include filing papers in alphabetical order in the Guidance Office, working in the library or the AV office, and grading papers for teachers.

There are many benefits to be gained from student service besides getting out of study hall. Students learn important jobs that may help them later in their careers. It helps the teachers as well because some of their routine tasks are done for them. Student service workers were treated to a special breakfast on the morning of May 16 in the commons.



KEEPING TRACK of all of the books in Media Center is just one of the tasks that keep Jerry Culler busy.

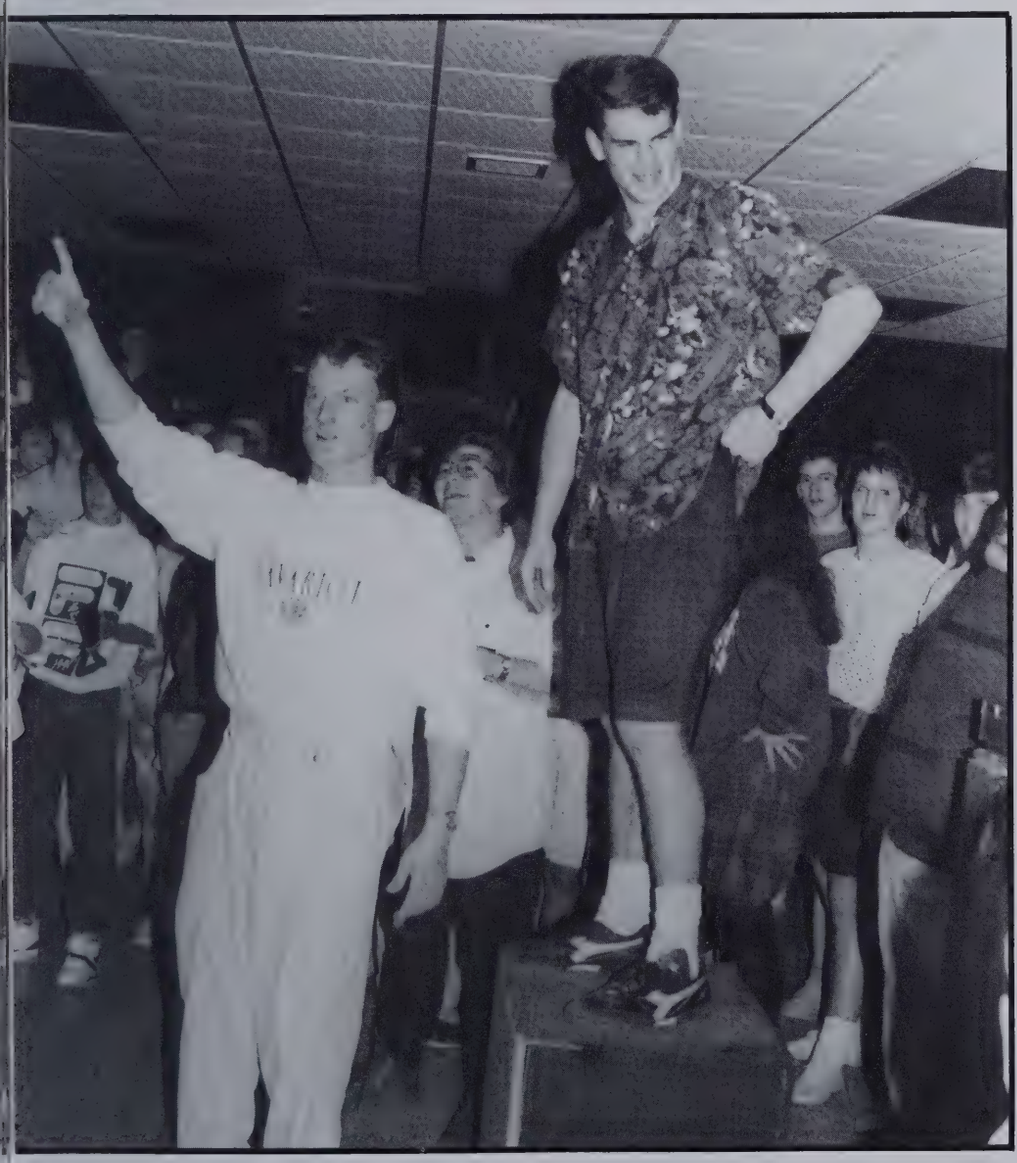
Gordon's Groups

Busy Teacher Keeps Students Busy, Too



Both the National Honor Society and the SADD chapter were sponsored by Mrs. Tita Gordon. The purpose of the former was to promote an interest in high academic standards. The latter promoted students to take an interest in some of the dangers of drinking and driving.

Among the activities of the National Honor Society were the dance including a date auction, a slave sale, computer dating match-ups, pies in teachers' faces at a convo, and a bowl-a-thon. These activities raised funds for scholarships. A special project was tutoring students at all grade levels from elementary on up. Officers were Cal Bowers, President; Julie Whitington, Vice-President; Jenny Nobles, Secretary; and Carleen Lau, Treasurer.

SADD was also busy with activities such as dances, a bake sale, the egg-grams, hot lines for the prom and graduation, holding a program at the middle school, and taking a trip to Cedar Point.

HOW MUCH AM I BID? Nick Keller notes a bid as Mr. DeKalb, Matt Bechdol, goes on the block at the NHS's date auction.

Timber Ridge

Slopes Beckon; Artists Host Workshop

What do the Art Club and the Ski Club have in common? Not much, really. Both involve three letter words and activities that their members enjoy.

The major purpose of the Ski Club, sponsored by Mr. Don Myers, was to provide an opportunity to ski at an economical price. They traveled to Timber Ridge in Michigan eight times during the ski season. There were occasional injuries with only one — to Kelly Morrow — being serious enough to require a trip to the hospital. Ski Club officers were Chris Skelding, President; Eric John, Viceprisident; and Lauren Massey, Secretary.

Art Club offered art-related experiences to its membership and raised funds for scholarships, Members served as teachers at an art education workshop for DeKalb fifth graders. They also sponsored dances, especially the Valentines semi-formal. The Art Club's executive council consisted of Emily Musser, Alison Seiler, Jason Leffel, Zac Bir, and Kelly Franks. Mrs. Jan Nagel was the Art Club sponsor.

Building Steps

Developing Leadership, Cooperation, Citizenship

DHS has many organizations, some of which are building steps for the future of America; for example, Future Farmers of America, Future Educators in Action, and Future Homemakers of America. All three groups work to develop leadership, cooperation, and citizenship.

FFA also develops agricultural knowledge and experience on the job. Their activities included hosting District III Leadership Kickoff. They farmed the school's land lab and landscaped the land lab sign. One member was in national AgriScience competition and five others went along to national FFA convention.

FEA's year consisted of such activities as Christmas Treegrams, special treats to the teachers throughout the year, and awarding senior scholarships.

Though small, FHA was also quite active. They had a pizza party, donated to the Preschool for the Handicapped, visited and donated to the Humane Shelter, donated classroom kitchen equipment, attended a movie and snack party, and held a banquet in May.

BEING CAREFUL to follow the lines, FEA president Jolene Lehner cuts out a treegram for the group's money-making project.

Speech Team Takes Third In Conference

The Speech Team and the Literary Club are both organizations which are related to the English Department.

The Speech Team helps students develop more confidence in themselves and provides skills that will be useful in later life. Although the team had a down year compared to the past, they did participate in several speech meets. They placed third in the Northeast Hoosier Conference meet and tenth at sectional. Three were conference champs: Carleen Lau in Poetry; Julie Madden in Radio; and Karla Kelleher in Drama. The lone qualifier for state was Julie Madden, who placed seventh in Impromptu at the state meet.

In its first full year, the Literary Club worked to promote culture, especially reading and theater, and served as a support for the language arts program. They held a Book Fair in December and had a display at the Spring Art Show. They also served refreshments at school plays and concerts.

SEVENTH AT STATE! Julie Madden knows that practice makes perfect as she works on her impromptu speaking.

Publications

Newspaper, Yearbook Inform Barons

Journalism at DHS consists of two major activities: the newspaper and the yearbook. For the first half of the year there was real staff togetherness because both publications shared room 213 while the newspaper's usual quarters were occupied by the athletic director because of construction in the downstairs office area. After Christmas, things once again were back to normal.

Editor-in-Chief of the Baron Shield was Jeff Burkhart. Business Manager was Matt Bishop. Assistant Editors were C.J. Stoops and Laurie Clevenger. Layout Managers were Scott Clevenger and Natalie Gallogly. Art Editor was Joanna Krause.

Each newspaper staff member who wished to could help in the ad campaign by calling on local businesses to explain the benefits of advertising. Over 75 businesses did so.

Yearbook staff members also contacted local businesses for their support, and the results can be seen in our ad section toward the back of this book. The entire book was planned by the staff from cover to cover.

TWO HIGHLIGHTS from the Show Choir's show were "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines," above, and "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," right. The choir entered numerous contests and always did well, earning Division I in Group I in the ISSMA Organizational contest and first at Norwell. Seconds were at Bluffton Street Fair, NHC, Carroll, and Ohio Northern. They placed third at Watseka. The choir was fifth at Bishop Luers and sixth at Kankakee, Showstoppers, and Mt. Zion. Honors received in these contests included Best Percussion, Horn, Male Soloist, Choreography, Vocals, Bass, and Costumes.

NAMED BEST male soloist in four contests including conference and at Showstoppers was Addam Camp, below.

Classic

Connection Swings Out

THE CLASSIC CONNECTION performed many times in the community. Above they are in concert for a school assembly in the gym and left, for Veterans Day in the auditorium. Other activities included hosting at the DeKalb Fair, the Bellmont Showcase, a Christmas Concert and the Chesterton Festival. They also presented spring concerts and performed as host school for Show Choir Camps of America. Many individual members of the show choir also took part in the ISSMA solo and ensemble contests.

Choirs

Making Beautiful Music

TWO TALENTED girls choir members, Tammy Ellert and Jenny Dunn, perform during the spring Pops Concert.

THE CONCERT CHOIR was the largest choral group, composed of both male and female voices. They worked on a wide range of numbers from the very serious to the lighthearted. Right, Tim Storms and his partner work on the choreography for a number. Below, Nicole Farrington sings a solo at the Pops Concert. Besides school concerts, this choir performed at the Heimach Center, took part in ISSMA solo and ensemble contests, and placed second in Group III at the ISSMA organizational contest.

GIRLS CHOIR: Danni Bash, JoDe Daub, Jenny Dunn, Tammy Ellert, Jennifer Garn, Jessica Goldsmith, Shawn Gonzalez, Joanna Krause, Angie Sproat, Shannon Walter, Holly Buckmaster, Jyl Brown, Beth Kessler, Rachel Hicks, Kelly Wagner, Shannon Wade, Jenny Crager, Jenny Schmidt, Moneia Slentz, Chassidy Thompson, Amanda Hower.

THE GIRLS CHOIR was very busy, giving serveral performances in the community and taking part in several competitions. Their first major appearance was at the DeKalb County Fair. They took part in all of the choir concerts and the Chesterton Festival. They placed first in the girls division at Watseka, a second in the ISSMA show choir contest, and third at Mt. Zion. They also received a Division I rating in Group III in the ISSMA organizational contest. At left, the girls perform at the Pops Concert during the Fine Arts Festival.

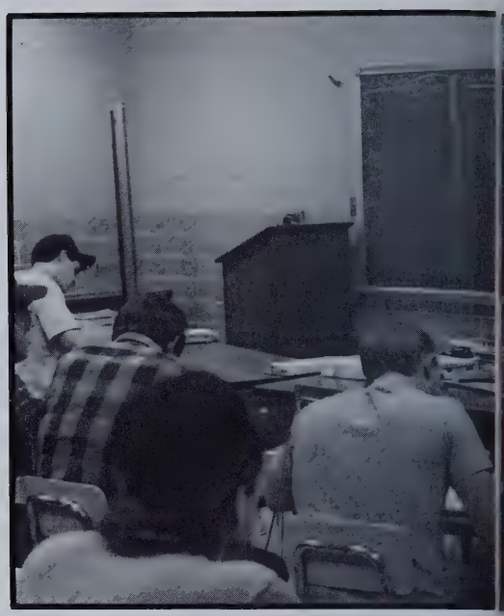
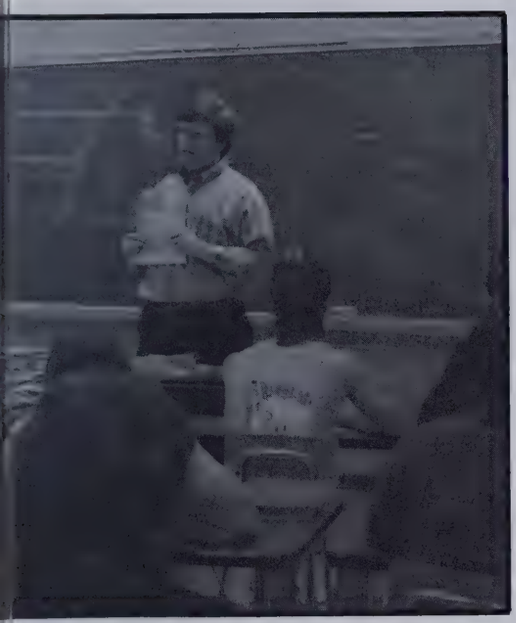
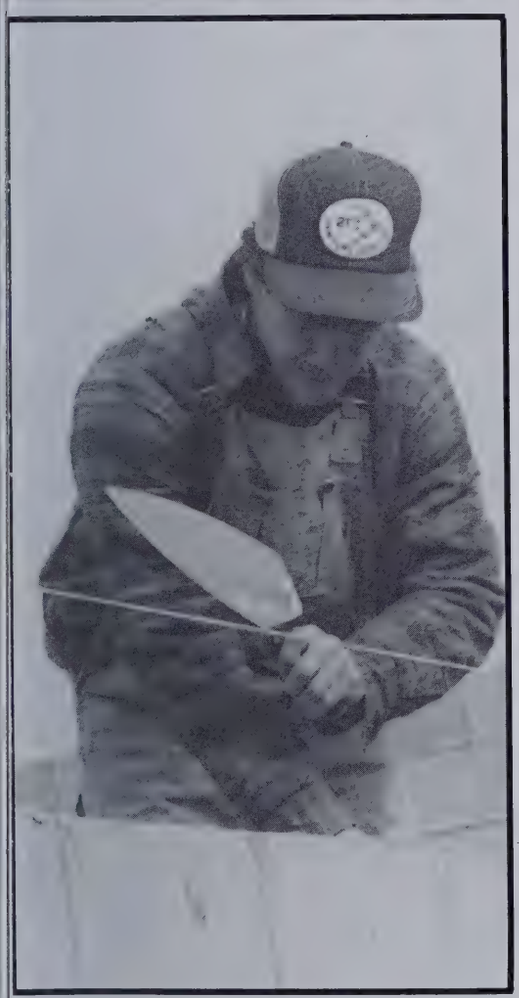
Building To Learn



AUTO MECHANICS is one of the classes offered in the Vocational Arts Department. Getting practical experience, above, Dan Shirk watches as Kevin Berryhill works on machining brake rotors. Right above, Matt Foster repairs the front brakes of a van. Auto Mechanics is designed to teach an employable skill by acquainting students with basic fundamentals of proper automobile servicing, diagnosis, and repair procedures. Auto Mechanics is a high-interest class for many students.



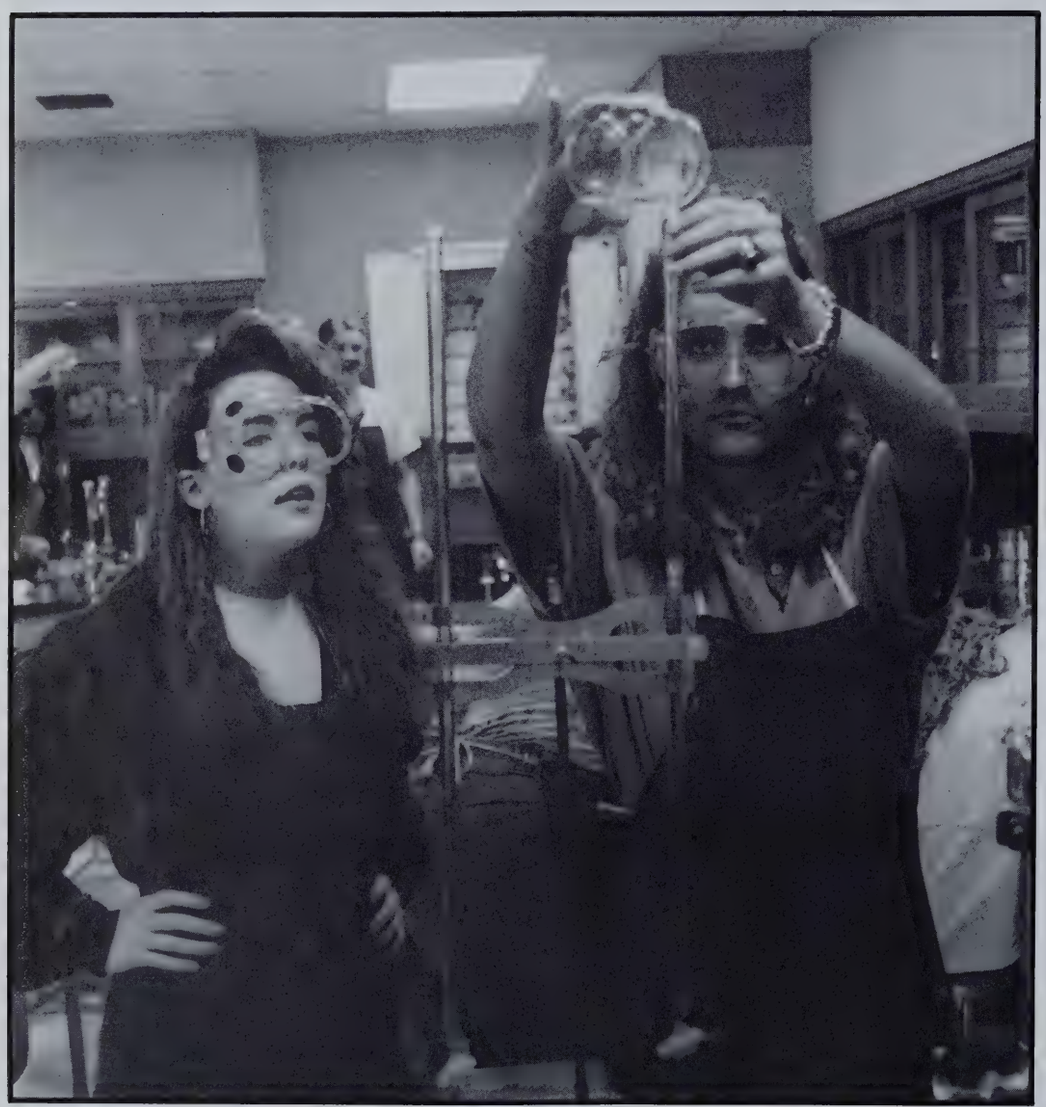
AGRICULTURE CLASSES involve many things including judging, experimenting, and repairing. Left, the Ag II class listens as Mr. Dave Gurtner explains regulations concerning wetlands areas. Below, Doug DePew and Brad Haskins complete a tune-up on a push lawnmower. Some classes offered in the Ag Department were Agri-Business Marketing, Agri-Business Management and Ag Mechanics.



THE BUILDING TRADES class built a new concession stand near the football field for their 1990-91 project. Above, Martin Van Auken works on putting up one of the walls. Left, Dwayne Whitaker power drills a hole in the wall where one is needed. Building trades is designed for students who have a positive interest in it as a vocation. Each student gains experience in general carpentry, plumbing, heating, electricity, and painting.

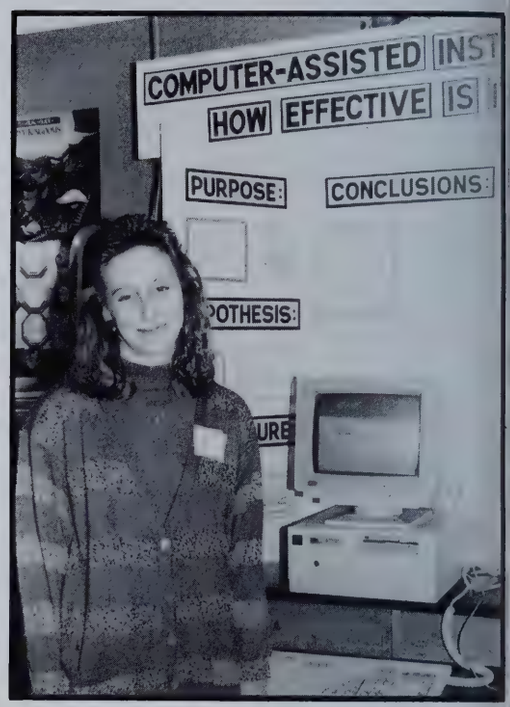
A GRAPHIC ARTS project has all of Brian Workman's attention for the moment. This class acquaints students with all phases of preparing materials to be printed by the offset method. All materials printed are used in the school.

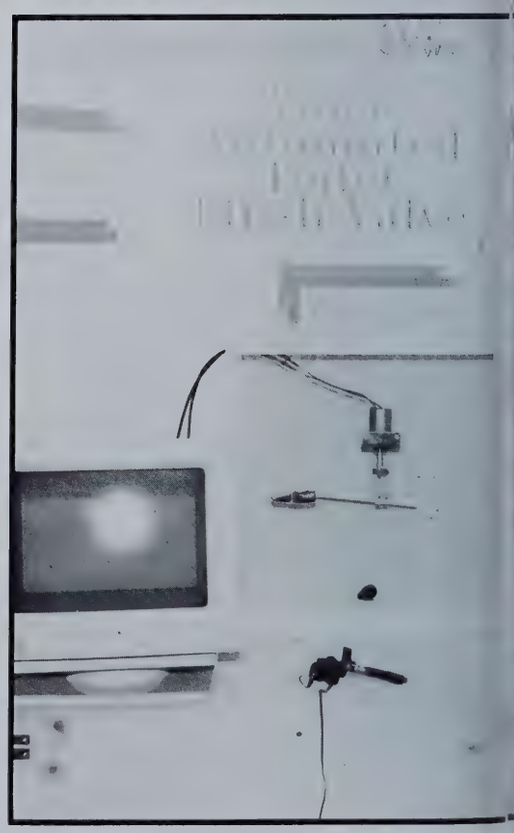
Going
Beyond The Textbook



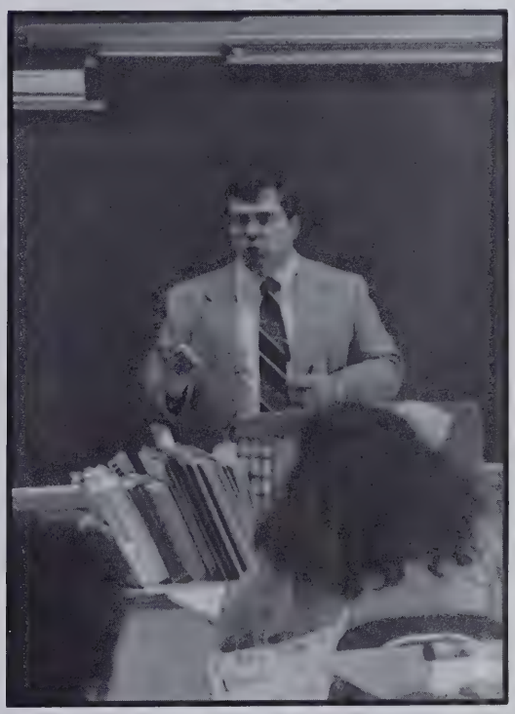
PROVIDING students with lots of hands-on experience was a major goal of the Science Department. Above, Nan Roe watches as Kelly Franks, her Chemistry II lab partner, sets up their experiment. Students in Anatomy & Physiology and biology (four levels were taught) got a chance to cut up such things as fish and pigs. Students in Physical Science, Earth Science, Chemistry I and II, and Physics also had learning experiences that sometimes went beyond what the textbooks had to offer.

THE LOCAL Science Fair displayed a wide range of projects including Angie Rathburn's study of computer assisted instruction, below, and Adam Jordan's voice activated toilet flusher for the handicapped, far below. Angie won first place in the Math and Computers Division at the Regional Science Fair at Tri-State. Also winning first at Tri-State were Simon Dunn and Sarah Johnson. In the Junior Division, firsts were earned by Amy Oswalt, Sara Trapp, and Roger Deetz. Winning first place honors at the local fair were Amy Oswalt and Sally Peart.





THE SOCIAL Studies Department offered the traditional U.S. History, Government, and Economics, in addition to Psychology, Advanced Psychology, Current Social Problems, Sociology, and World History. Through field trips, guest speakers, audio-visual aids, and current periodicals, students learned more about their world by means besides just the textbook. Left, Brandy Saucedo seems deep in thought as she works on her government test. Below, guest speaker Kirk Carpenter tells a class of seniors about our legal system for Law Day.



COMPOSED MOSTLY of sophomores and juniors, the Super Bowl team took part in three meets in the spring. in the NHC, the math team of Zac Bir, Simon Dunn, John Haney, Jim Higgins, and Angie Rathburn placed third. At the Garrett Academic Invitational, second place honors went to the math, science, and fine arts teams while the all-around team of Kevin Chaney, Scott Deetz, and Angie Rathburn earned first place. The Area Meet found the social studies team of Gina Bentz, Kevin Chaney, Misty Farver, and Katy Southern placing third. Members of the Super Bowl team: Front Row: Simon Dunn, Jim Higgins, Brad Rudolph, Jim Krill, Zac Bir, John Haney, Kevin Chaney, Scott Deetz. Second Row: Mr. Jim Adang, Angie Rathburn, Katy Southern, Camille Bir, Cathy Wilshere, Natalie Gallogly, Misty Farver, Gina Bentz, Mrs. Marilyn Gearhart.

SHOWING THAT NOT ALL WORK takes place on the computer, Dan Funk, Scott Deetz, and Chris Oberlin, above, flow-chart their programs. Right, students in Mr. Boyd's Computer Programming II class once again work on another assignment. Computer Literacy provides the opportunity for students to study the concepts of data processing and word processing using hands-on training. Computer Programming I and II are designed for those students who plan on entering mathematics, science, or computer fields as well as the many related fields.

Numbers

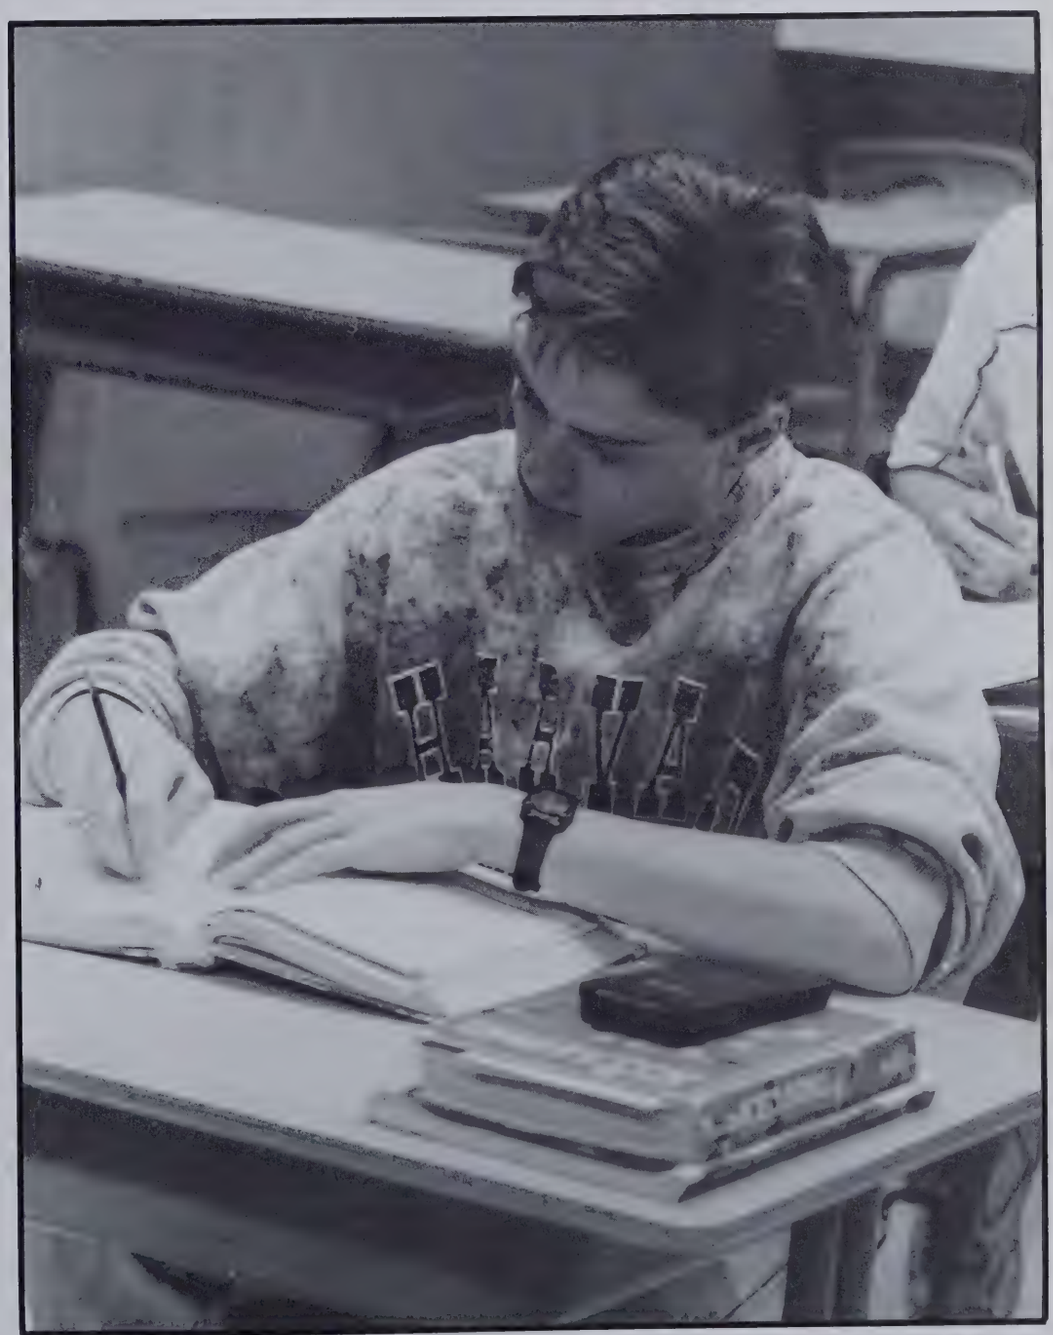
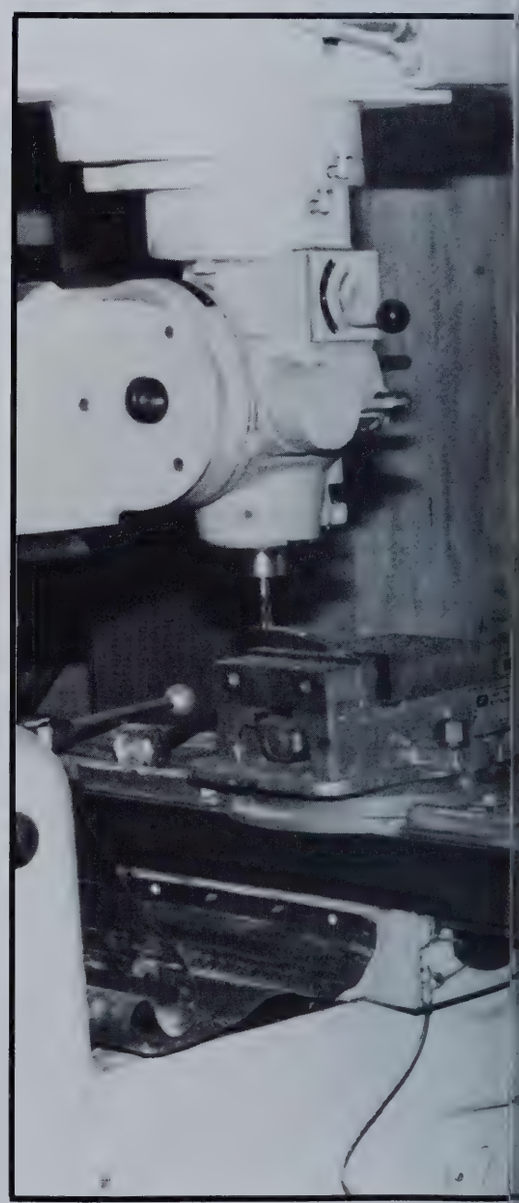
IN VERY CROWDED QUARTERS, Don McKean, above, types during his Keyboarding I class while right, Seth Paske works in his Accounting I class. A wide range of business classes was available. Besides three semesters of computers and three of keyboarding, other classes were Business Math, Intro to Business, Business Law, Accounting I and II, Recordkeeping, Shorthand I and II, Typing Production, Office Practice, and Business Lab, in which students got practical experience in various offices in the community.



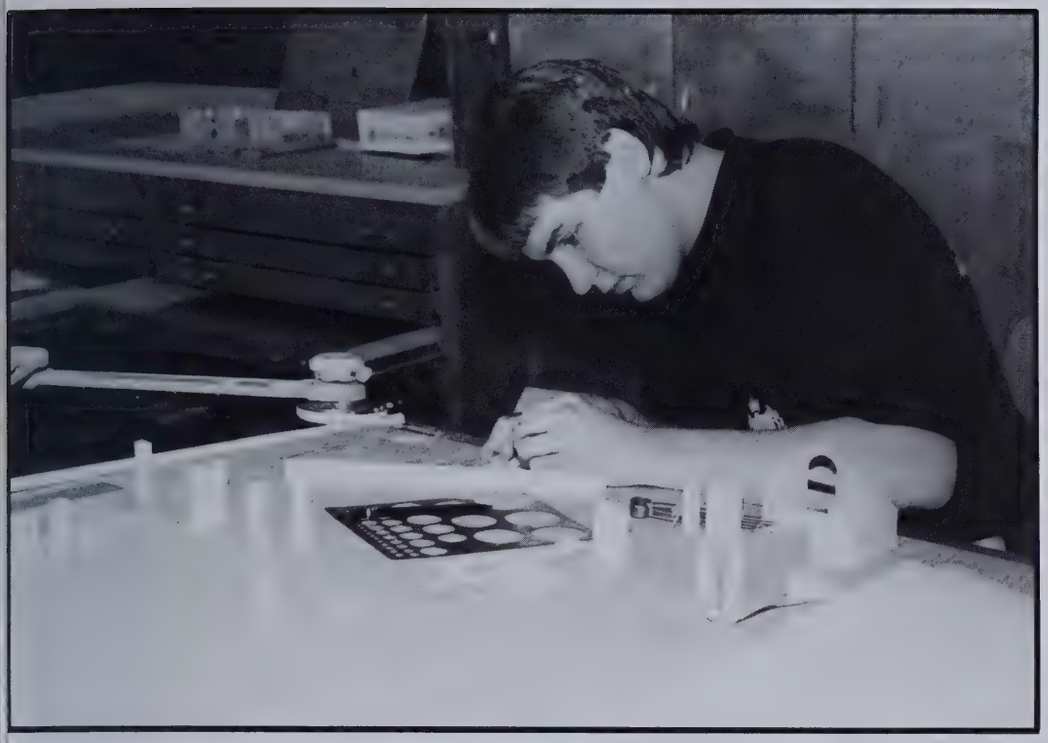
Skills

Learning To Build

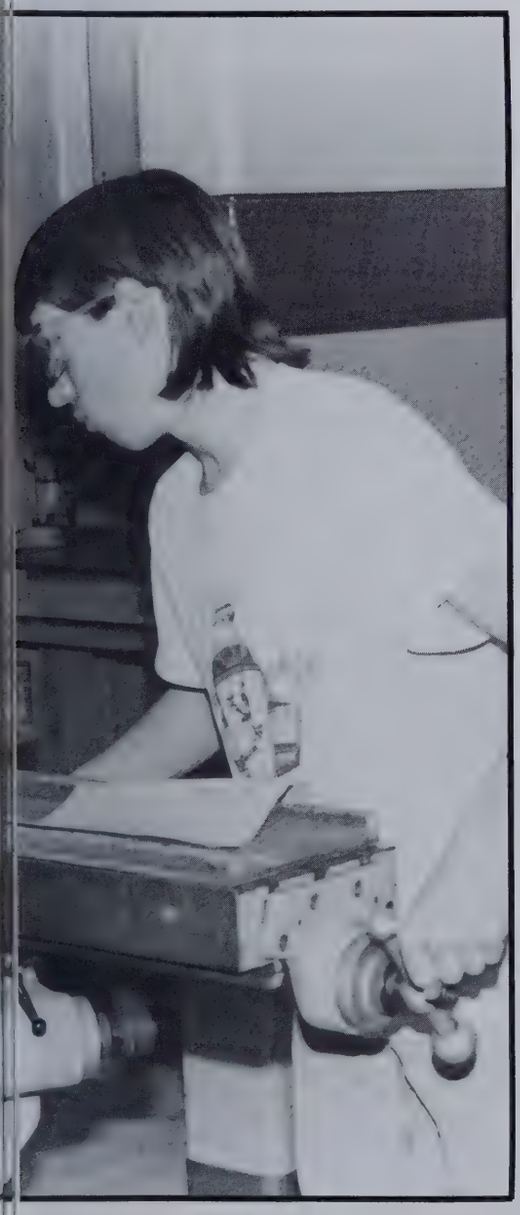


TESTING THEIR PROJECT for electricity class are Justin Rodenbeck, Chad Clark, and Josh Johnson. Three full-year classes in electricity plus a one semester Practical Electricity were taught. Students were given a chance to explore everything from simple circuits to very complicated ones.

SURFACE CUTTING their projects on the vertical mill are Jeramy Hatton, above right, and Mike Bell, right. The Industrial Arts department gives students the chance to take three years of metals classes, which offer experience in such aspects as machine shop, sheet metal, foundry, forging, bench metal and arc welding.



ARCHITECTURAL DRAFTING student Steve Vallance works on a model house. Architectural Drafting gives students a background in design and drawing principles for those who desire further training in the architectural field. Drafting I, II, and III, each a full-year course, were also taught. They gave students practice in everything ranging from free-hand sketching to advanced things such as axonometric and oblique projections.



DRILLING A HOLE for a lamp cord, woods teacher Mr. Steve Ritenour shows Allen Eddy, John Dunn, and Mike Rhodes how it is done. The three years of woodworking classes were designed to create an opportunity for students to develop new skills in working with wood.

SITTING PATIENTLY and posing, Danetta Chorpenning lets Piper Merrell sketch a picture of her. Live models were just a part of the projects for Drawing and Painting. Other classes available were Remedial Art, Commercial Design and Art History. Products of various art classes were often displayed in the media center and in the hall display areas.

CHILD DEVELOPMENT covers parenting, prenatal development, and the child from birth to six years old. Brenda Boger seems to be learning what their mother already knows — that twins can be quite a handful.

CERAMICS IS A popular art activity at DHS, especially after the new art rooms provided a special ceramics area. Lauren Massey, above, and JoDe Daub, right, work on the wheel. In addition to four semesters of ceramics, the art department also offered Jewelry and Crafts, Art 1 and Art 2.

OBSERVING THESE GUYS seems an interesting task for Erin Geeting and Suzanne Reese for their Child Development class.

In Kitchen And Studio

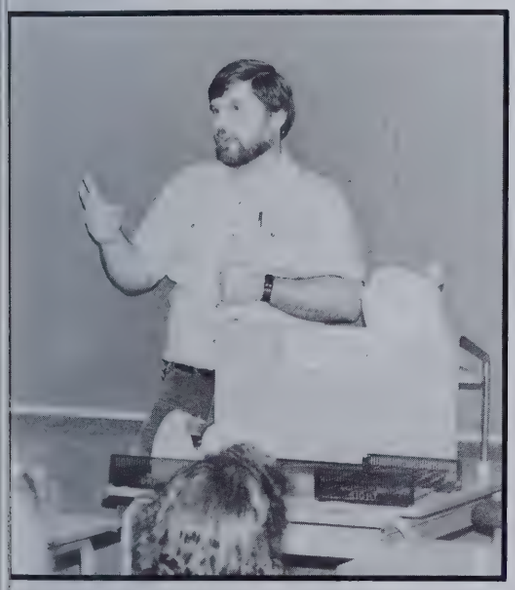
TRYING OUT her rice is sophomore Shannon Madison. Tasting things is common in home ec classes that involve making different foods. In all, there were eight semester courses taught. Three (Foods 9, Foods I and Foods II) involved the full range of cooking from breakfast to dessert for dinner. Clothing 9 and Clothing I included a craft project and a garment. In addition to Child Development, Family Care and Relations and Housing were also taught. The former involved everything from home nursing to planning a wedding.

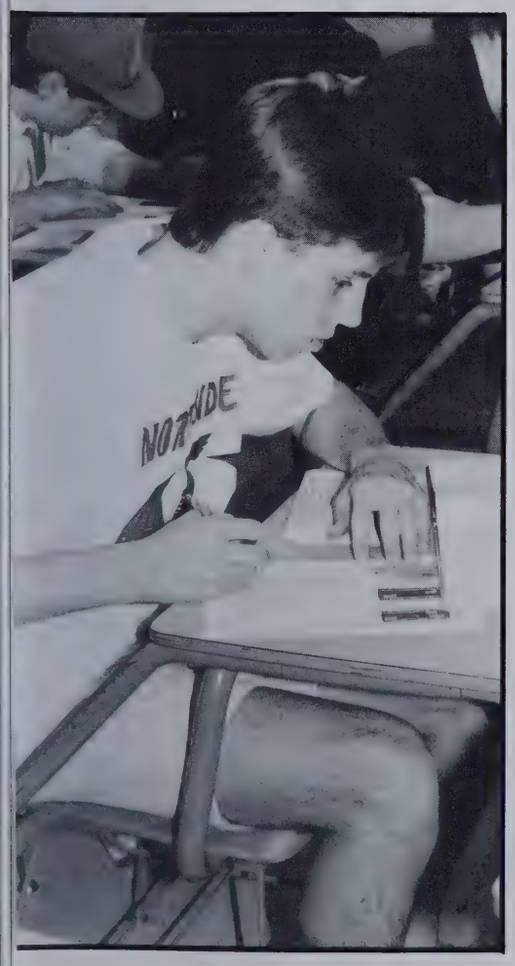
PHYSICAL EDUCATION, a full-year class, was required for all sophomores. A wide range of physical activities was pursued in these classes including both team sports and other activities designed to improve the physical well-being of the individual students. Classes were held outside in the fall and spring and indoors the rest of the time. On this page Amy Leffel, below, works on her batting style; Randy Stout, right, tries to get to the next base, and Kelly Meyer, far below, tries to throw the football.

Bodies,

Minds Working Together

DRIVERS EDUCATION book class and Health are both required classes for freshmen. Drivers Ed was designed to equip students to be safer users of the highway transportation system. It included guest speakers and materials from the state's Defensive Driving course. Below, Randy Fox from EMS tells about problems related to drunk driving and far below, Jason Washler works on a work sheet. The Health classes gave special emphasis to interests and problems of teen-agers such as tobacco, alcohol, family life education, and stress.





QUEST and Substance Abuse were two electives available within the Physical Education Department. Quest class, in addition to the keeping of a written journal, involved a lot of group discussion, including such topics as self-concept, feelings, family, friends, career goals, financial goals, and parenting. Above, Jessica Fetter discusses family relationships with her classmates. Substance Abuse focused in on the physical, mental, psychological, and social effects of various substances on the human system.

Winners

Seventh In The State

FROM HOT SUMMER PRACTICES (top) to the final field show, the Baron Brigade — after a slow start — did well in several contests: Concord, fourth; East Noble, second; Homestead, second (Best Music Award); Norwell, third; and NHC, third. Their only parade contest was at the DeKalb Fair, where they won the Sweepstakes Award.

BEING A BRIGADIER or a Baron Brigade member isn't always serious. Melanie Jetmore is all dressed up for the Brigade's Halloween show.

THE BRIGADE AND BRIGADIERS are proud of their seventh place at state, which they reached by placing second at District (Marching Award). Director Dick Karkosky said of their show: "Our show creates a lot of energy and enthusiasm and a lot of spirit that the audience can pick up on." Their score of 75.65 at state was their best of the year.

BASKETBALL SEASON means that the Pep Band, left, must swing into action. It also means the Brigadiers present a pre-game show, above, and several half-time shows. With the team not doing too well, the Pep Band had a special challenge to help the cheerleaders support the team and keep the crowd involved.

Bands

Tooting Their Horns

ONCE THE MARCHING SEASON was over, Mr. Karkosky and his band students turned their attention to the concert season. For this, they were divided into two groups: the Symphonic Band and the Concert Band. Each band met for one hour a day to polish their performance techniques. Certain band students also joined the Jazz band, which practiced in the morning before school.

The bands performed several times during the year, starting with the Concert Band's Fall Concert in November. Both major bands presented a Christmas Concert, and all three bands gave a Pops Concert in January. April brought the Springfest, for which the musicians from the entire district gathered. The music year ended with the Fine Arts Festival's Jazz Concert and Spring Band Concert. Along the way through the year, band members also took part in the Baron Revue and a Valentine dinner and dance.

In Solo and Ensemble competition, 24 first places and 17 seconds were earned at district, and 5 firsts and 5 seconds resulted at state.

The Jazz Band got a Division I rating in the ISSMA evaluation in March, while the April ISSMA evaluations found both the Concert and Symphonic Bands being rated in Division II.

The pictures on this page are all from the band's Pops Concert, held on January 21.

Successful

Individual Progress Plays Key Role For Teams

Success . . . What does it mean? To the girls' cross country team, it meant winning conference, the sectional, and the regional for the first time ever. It also meant that the season ended with a trip to the state finals. For the golf team, success meant improving individual scores.

As the cross country season opened, the challenge before them looked more like a mountain than a hill, according to some members of the team. Runners for many other teams looked to the top and stopped running, but not the DeKalb girls.

The girls maintained high standards through hard work and dedication. Many placed well and reached their goals individually. Freshmen Justine Wells and Missy Lyne were named first team all-conference while sophomores Cheryl Conrad and Diane Richardson received second team honors.

Missy Lyne was the leading runner with her best time for the 4000 meters being 15:14, which was also a new school record. She placed 21st at state with the team placing fourteenth in the girls' first-ever trip to Indy. Hard work and dedication paid off for them as they had a very successful season.

Golf is another sport in which participants can set individual as well as team goals. Although the girls golf team wasn't very successful as a team, many members feel they accomplished a lot as individuals. Shawna Skelding led the girls with a 59.37 nine-hole average Katy Southern had a 62.87 average.

Although their 1 and 8 record didn't show it, the Baron girls golf team was rather successful. Their scores came down as the season went on and they finished ahead of 3 of the 12 other teams in the sectional.

PICKING UP the pace, Missy Lyne pulls away from a Carroll runner on her way to the conference championship.

12-0 In Duals

Season Ends With Seventh Place At Regional

It was both a satisfying and frustrating year for the members of the boys' cross country team and their coach, Tim Rayle, who called the year "the beginning of a turning point for DeKalb."

The year started out in a very positive manner, with first place finishes in both the Snider Hokum-Karem and the Northrop Invitationals. They were undefeated in dual meets, beating such traditional cross country powerhouses as Northrop, Norwell, and East Noble.

Leading the team early in the year was Jason Washler, who finished first at the West Noble Invitational with a season-best time of 15:55. Jeremy Shankster was third in 16:11. The team's third place at West Noble was enough to elevate their ranking from 18th to 13th in the state. But perhaps that was a sign of bad luck, because after that the injuries started to mount up and take their toll.

Despite the adversity, the team's spirit was never defeated and the end of the season with a seventh place finish at the regional found the underclassmen who would return the next year eagerly looking forward to the following year with very positive attitudes, having learned to believe in themselves and that hard work can produce success.

Setting individual goals is an important aspect of cross country. Typical of this is Shannon McCanna's comment: "I felt that I had a good season because I accomplished more than I thought I could." Senior Dirk Andres gave credit to Coach Rayle "for not only showing me how to run faster, but also for helping me improve as a person."

"It was a really challenging season."

No Regrets

Winning Sectional Championship Caps Good Year

The varsity volleyball team finished its successful season with a record of 25-9, winning the Whitko Invitational and regaining the sectional championship. "We surprised ourselves with what we accomplished," said senior Amy Weaver.

This year's team consisted of five seniors, two juniors, six sophomores, and one freshman. Co-captains were Amy Weaver and Julie McKean. Weaver was named to first team all-conference, while second team honors went to sophomore Wendy Recker.

Individual leader in kills was Weaver with 288, aces were led by Recker with 54, and assists were led by senior Denise Swogger with 549. Weaver also led in blocks with 154, while senior Julie McKean led in digs with 143.

Head coach Mrs. Chris Likens commented that this year's team had to work much harder to reach their goals than some of her previous teams had. Placing second in conference out of eight teams was one of the team's accomplishments that impressed the coach.

"From the first day of practice our goal was to win sectional," commented Weaver. A victory over Fremont with scores of 15-3, 15-8 won the sectional championship at Eastside. "The best part of the season," said senior Tricia Gurtner, "was winning sectional."

The volleyball team's season ended with a loss to Wayne in the semifinals of the Fort Wayne 4-team regional held at Wayne High School. "I feel great about the way our season ended: we won the sectional back! That was our main goal all season — so no regrets," was Julie McKean's comment about her final year of playing high school volleyball.

Paying Dues

Mixed Results For Non-Varsity Football, Volleyball

Successful athletic programs do not happen overnight. Winning varsity teams are often developed after their members have "paid their dues" with years of effort and learning in middle school and on the freshman and junior varsity teams. Although winning seasons are nice to have, the experience gained by team members is far more important.

Non-varsity players in the volleyball and football programs spent the late summer and fall paying their dues and preparing themselves for the future. Coached by Dawn Jones, the jv volleyball team broke even for the year at 11-11. Leading setters for the team were Amy Hayes, Melissa Sutton, and Ericka Rathburn. The top three hitters were Annie Recker, Kelly Morrow, and Kari Price, while Annie Recker, Amy Hayes, and M.C. Gengnagel were the best servers.

Freshman volleyballers with their coach Rick Hower had a 13-8 record. Leading the team were Staci Keller and Tracy Hubbard (setters), Myka Merrill and Carman Potter (hitters), and Jaimi Thompkins and Nicole Whittington (servers).

The highly spirited reserve football team compiled a 5-3 record under Brad Shields and Tim Wolfe, both first-year coaches. The team's excellent defense was keyed by linebackers Jon Bickel, Bruce Bell, and Chad DePew. Offensively the quarterback Todd Stayer had several outstanding receivers to throw to, especially Grant Detrick, Kadish Evans, and Brandon McBrier. The rushing attack was led by Jon Bickel and Eric Howe.

The freshman football team had a frustrating season, losing all 8 of its games. Quarterback for the team was Tim Brown while other outstanding players were running back Todd Likens, lineman Adam Bolen, and tight end Matt DePew.

"Our season went well and the experience I gained will last a lifetime."

Defense Is Key

Strong Individual Contributions Highlight 5-4 Year

"Our players loved playing the game." This statement by first-year head coach Ron Kock expresses the spirit of the 1990 football Barons. Although their season record was 5-4, they were seldom out of the game, with only one of the losses being by more than one touchdown. Exhibiting a strong defense, it was not until the fourth game of the year that they were scored on in the second half.

Although football is a team sport, there were many who made strong individual contributions. Leading the team in scoring was Tom Allison, with 44 points. In addition to one touchdown, Allison's strong leg contributed 14 PAT's. He made 8 of 10 field goals, the longest of which was for 46 yards, both of these being single-season records.

Close behind Allison in total points with 42 was Tracy Joseph, who had 5 TD's rushing and 2 pass receptions for touchdowns. Joseph had 401 rushing yards.

Voted team MVP and co-captain, Chad Carper led the team in rushing with 605 yards, including two touchdowns. Quarterback Tim Holwerda established a new school record in the game against Carroll when he completed ten passes in a row.

Senior guard Bryan Bergner had an outstanding year on defense with 106 total tackles, ending his high school career as the leader in tackles with 421. Defensive back Dwayne Leininger had 87 tackles and Tom Allison helped the defensive cause with five interceptions.

Senior co-captain Cal Bowers said this about the season: "Every game was played to win and not one player ever gave up. That's the kind of desire that was with the team the whole year and that's why I am proud to say that I was part of the Baron team."

Homestead, a state power in tennis for many years, ran into the Barons' roadblock on their way to another conference championship. The Spartans had had a lock on the conference since 1976. But it wasn't to be in 1990. The Barons, relying on hard work and senior leadership, managed to pull off what many others had tried and failed to do. They won the Northeast Hoosier Conference.

It was not easy. The match was tied 2-2 and only the number two doubles match between DeKalb's Matt Bechdol and Mike Dendinger and Homestead's Cory Schoffer and Andy Fouts remained. They had split the first two sets 6-4 and 2-6 and the Baron duo was down 1-4 in the final set when they started the rally that ended with them winning the tiebreaker and the third set 7-6. "I can't believe we came back," Bechdol said.

A wild celebration followed when the team realized that the championship was theirs. Coach Tim Koehl called i the highlight of his coaching career.

Other outstanding accomplishment included winning the DeKalb an North Side Invitationals. The seaso ended with a 2-3 loss to Angola in th sectional finals.

The number one doubles team o Scott Pettis and Brian Wright was abl to advance to the regional of the stat doubles tournament where they lost i the semi-finals.

The best individual record of 22- was compiled by number two single player Greg Boyd, whose high schoo career ended at 40-5. Number one sin gles man Shane Crager ended his caree 36-8, while Scott Pettis had a 24-6 ca reer mark.

Building for the future, the jv's had record of 10-3. "Our newly found skill our determination, and our two energe ic coaches provided the essential ingr dients for a successful season," said r serve netman Ed Roberts.

Cheering

Supporting All Sports Requires Much Hard Work

Not all of DHS's athletes play on the sports teams. Some of them are cheerleaders. From their selection in the spring of 1990, the cheerleaders found that it wasn't all glory. As Mandy Freeburn put it, "Cheerleading was a lot of fun this year, but it was also a lot of work. We tried very hard to support every conference activity."

In order to raise money to attend the U.C.A. camp at IU in the summer, the girls sold tanning oil. Then they practiced two days a week during the summer from 6 to 8 A.M. and choreographed an original dance routine to perform at camp, where the entire squad won the spirit stick for the week.

A special goal of the cheerleaders, according to junior Daniss Meschberger, was "to raise school spirit by supporting every athletic team this year, and we had fun going to the different events." They also made signs and gave spirit treats and balloons to boost spirit.

Although some girls served during both seasons, the cheerleaders were divided into fall and winter sports squads. They sold spirit ribbons during football and basketball season to raise money and promote spirit. Other money-making activities included two cake raffles during basketball season and a game ball raffle during football season. Mrs. Diana Meschberger spent many hours as the dedicated sponsor of the cheerleaders.

All of the hard work paid off in rewarding experiences for the cheerleaders. Misti Hall commented, "We will all remember years from now how well the school spirit remained whether it was an up or down season."

"The school spirit at DeKalb has increased over the last year."

Never Give Up

Barons Stick Together Through Very Tough Times

Perfect seasons don't come along very often. The 1990-91 basketball team narrowly escaped having the kind of perfect season that all teams dread having — one without any victories. As it turned out, they were winless in the regular season, losing 19 games in a row.

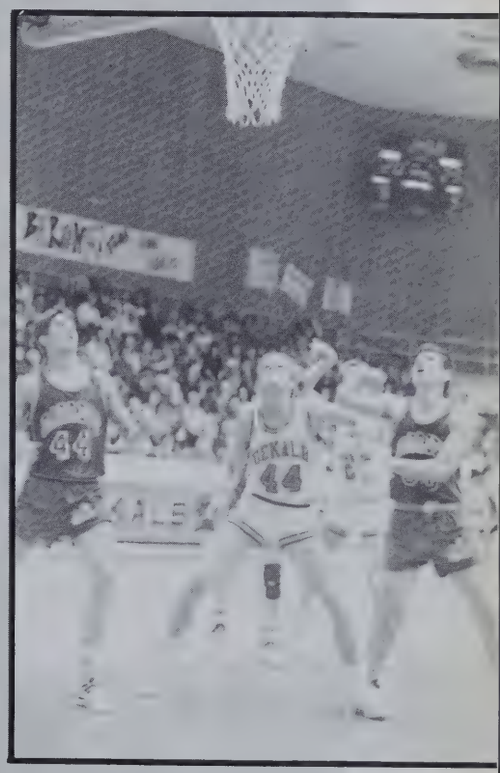
When the second season, sectional, opened, the Barons were to face a much-improved Howe Military team, whose record of 15-5 was their best in nearly 30 years. Wild celebrations by Baron fans followed the team's 62-58 win in that contest as well as their one point win over Leo in the semi-finals. The Hamilton Marines then dashed the hopes of the Barons with their 61-58 come-from-behind win in the sectional finals, giving the Barons a 2-20 final season record.

One of the more remarkable things about the season was the way the team held together and never gave up on themselves. As junior Brian Thomas put it, "I think the thing I will remember most about the varsity basketball team is that our record would have torn apart most teams but this team stuck together through the tough times of this season."

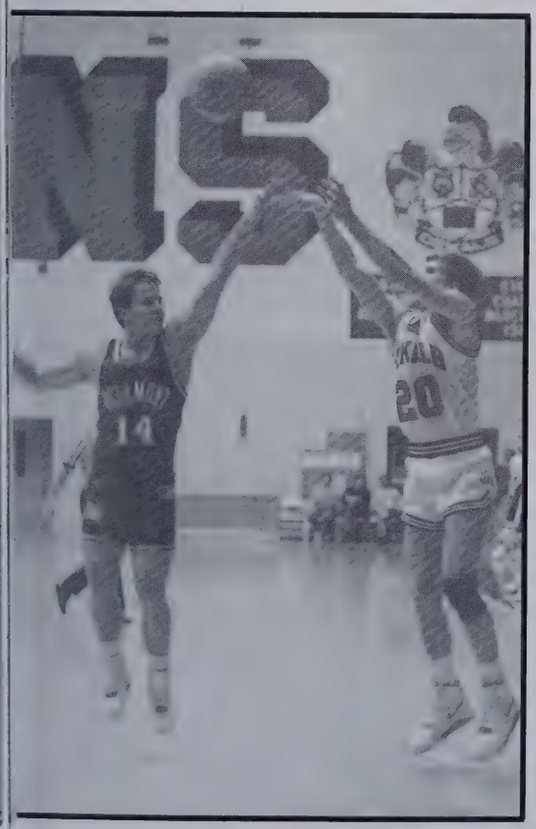
As might be expected, the opponents topped the Barons in nearly all areas. They were out-shot from the field .469 to .393 and from the line .650 to .528. The Barons were slightly better in 3 point shots .331 to .304.

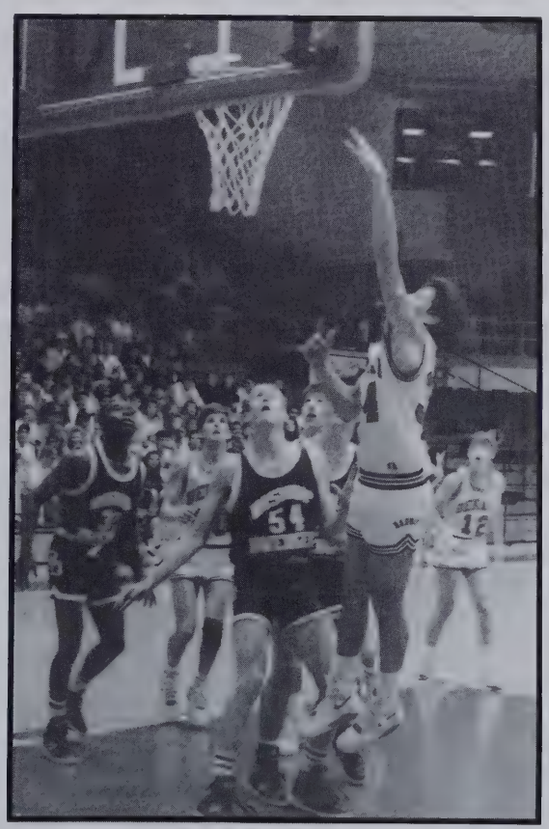
Shooting over 40 per cent from the field were Matt Bechdol (.490), Tracy Joseph (.469), Brian Wright and Tim Holwerda (.421), and Jeff Kessler (.406). None of the Barons did exceptionally well from the line with Tim Holwerda's 66 per cent being the only average over sixty.

"The support and encouragement was appreciated and will always be remembered."



WAITING for the rebound against Garrett is junior Tim Holwerda (44).





LETTING GO with one of his 3 pointers is senior Jeff Kessler, far left. Kessler averaged nearly 40 percent on 3 point shots.

HIGH PERCENTAGE SHOTS like this one by Tracy Joseph, left, helped him to average nearly 49 percent on 2 point attempts.

Top Guns

Kessler, Tatman Lead Reserves, Frosh In Scoring

"We beat a lot of good teams but we lost some games we shouldn't have."

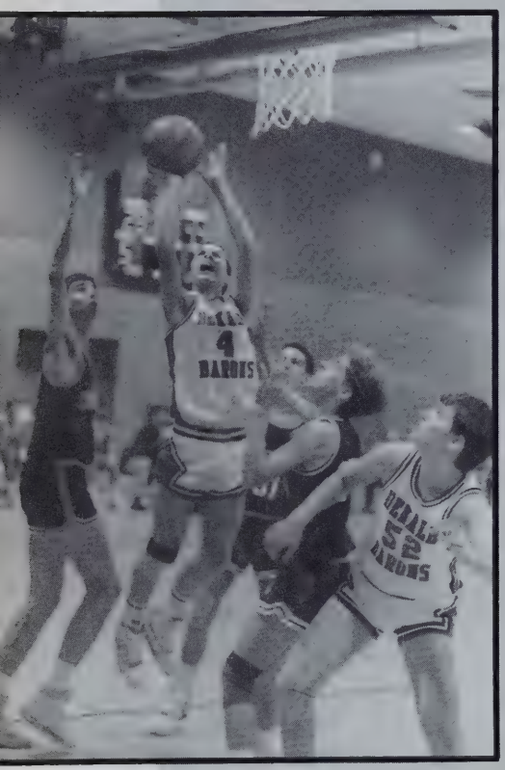
While the varsity boys' basketball team was experiencing a winless regular season, the reserve team, coached by Jim Pickett, managed to break even with ten wins and ten losses. The freshman team, after a slow start, finished up with a winning record of 12-7. The freshmen were coached by Cole Krebs.

The reserve team, which finished 3-4 against NHC opponents, placed third in the DeKalb Tourney, losing to East Noble and then defeating Angola. The junior varsity team played two overtime games, eventually losing to both Dwenger and North Side.

Before being moved up to the varsity after only six games, Andy Schmidt did quite well with the reserves. He averaged 8.8 points in those games, shooting 75 percent from the free throw line, and had 20 assists. The top point producer was Eric Kessler, who scored 174 points, averaging 8.7 per game. Mike Richter had the best field goal shooting percentage at 47. Leading in free throws were Brent Bailey (75 percent) and Eric Kessler (70 percent). Kessler was also the team's top rebounder, pulling down a total of 101, with 67 of them being defensive. Assist leaders were Kadis Evans (26), Todd Stayer (25), and Brent Bailey (21). Evans led the team with 29 steals.

The freshman team had the best record of the three boys' basketball teams. They placed second in the freshman tourney, beating Norwell and then losing to Columbia City.

Three freshman team members scored over 100 points: Nate Tatman (191), Mike Christner (140), and Todd Likens (138). Christner, the leading rebounder with 92, was also the leading free throw shooter at 65 percent. Likens had 50 assists while Ryan Rediger added 33 more.



LEADING SCORER for the freshmen with 191 points is forward Nate Tatman (4).

THE LIKENS EXPRESS is under way as Todd Likens (22) drives toward the basket and Adam Bolen (52) trails the action in a freshman game against Concordia.

GOOD POSITIONING under the basket is important for Bob Sweeney (22) in junior varsity action against Garrett.

Leadership

Three Seniors Set Examples For Underclassmen

"We put forth our greatest effort to make good things happen."

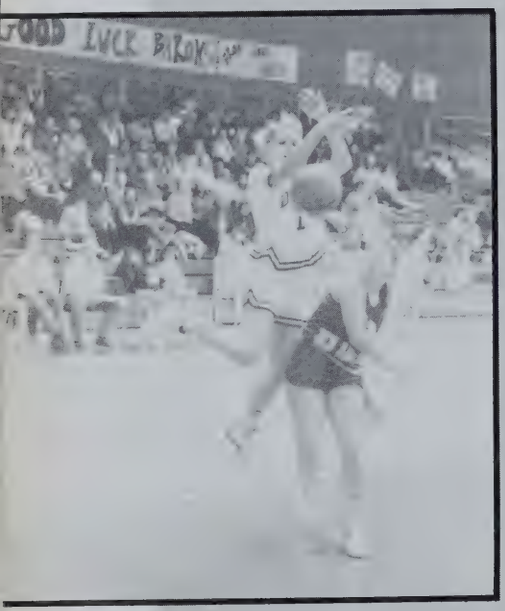
All the necessities of a winning team were there for the girls' basketball team. They had talent, experience, and support. The season ended with a 13-8 record, including a 4-3 record in the Northeast Hoosier Conference, which gave them a third place finish.

Leading the team were three seniors: Joy Kroemer, Amy Weaver, and Michelle Amurgey. The Lady Barons won their first game in the sectional against Leo, which let them advance to the second game against Woodlan. The Barons went on to win the sectional title back in a hard-fought game against Fremont, but they lost their opening regional game to Bishop Luers.

Mixed results were had in other tourneys, winning their own holiday event by beating Prairie Heights and Elkhart Memorial, but losing their opening game in the NHC tourney to Bellmont.

The varsity Lady Barons set their goals high this year and set a good example for the jv and freshman squads to follow. Sophomore varsity player Wendy Recker summed up the year this way: "The team accomplished its number one goal. We won back the sectional title. We prepared the whole season and put forth our greatest effort to make good things happen. This team was very close and we're going to miss the seniors. They pushed us and taught us how to be good leaders."

Balanced scoring was a key, with four players having over 200 points: Amy Weaver averaged 12.5 points per game; Tara Muzzillo, 12.2 ppg.; Joy Kroemer, 10.6 ppg.; and Wendy Recker, 9.8 ppg. Kroemer was the team's assist leader with 89, and Piper Merrell was best from the free throw line at 79 percent.



OOPS! Although this shot is blocked, Wendy Recker averaged nearly 10 points per game.

Struggling

Reserves, Freshmen Have 9-19 Combined Record

"Basketball had its ups and downs, but all things were enjoyable."

While the girls' varsity basketball team was having some success, the rest of the girls' basketball program was struggling for respectability. The junior varsity team, coached by Tom Kaldy, managed to win only 5 of its 16 games. Three of the five were against conference foes.

The freshman team, under the guidance of Karen Shields, won only four of its twelve games, with three of the four wins coming against NHC opponents.

As a team the junior varsity trailed their opponents in nearly every category of the statistics. They did have more defensive rebounds with 208 to 137 for the opponents. They had fewer personal fouls, with 163 compared to 195. This gave them more free throw attempts, but they were unable to capitalize, hitting only 49 percent. Ball handling seemed to be a big problem, as the jv's chalked up 144 more turnovers than their opponents.

Leading the reserve team in several individual categories was Annie Recker, who led in total points (160), field goal percentage (36), points per game (10), assists (17), steals (39), and offensive rebounds (22). Nicole Barnhart also had 22 offensive rebounds. Kelly Jernigan was best in free throw percentage (64), defensive rebounds (46), and total rebounds (62). Myka Merrell also had 62 total rebounds. Deb Wyatt was the second leading scorer with 72 total points.

Most of the scoring for the freshmen was done by two players. Andrea Pettis was tops with 88 points. Not too far behind her was Tina Gurtner, who chipped in 74 points. Tina was also the best free throw shooter, hitting 81 percent. Karen Nodine's claim to fame was that she hit the only three point attempt taken by the team to give them 100 percent on their three-point attempts.

"I'VE GOT IT!" Tracy Hubbard (30) and Kentrina Parks both try to be sure to get the rebound for the Lady Baron freshmen.

TRAPPED? Sara Trapp looks for a teammate to pass the ball to in freshman action against Carroll.

NOT CLOSELY GUARDED, Andrea Pettis (44) decides to take a shot in junior varsity actiion against Woodlan.

Good Mix

Freshmen, Seniors Contribute To 10-9 Season

The varsity wrestling team did not have an easy year. Finishing just above .500 at 10-9, they were a good mix of experienced wrestlers and rookies with just as many freshmen as seniors seeing varsity action. After finishing fifth at the NHC meet and sixth at the East Noble Invitational, they came on strong to finish second to Eastside at the Carroll sectional.

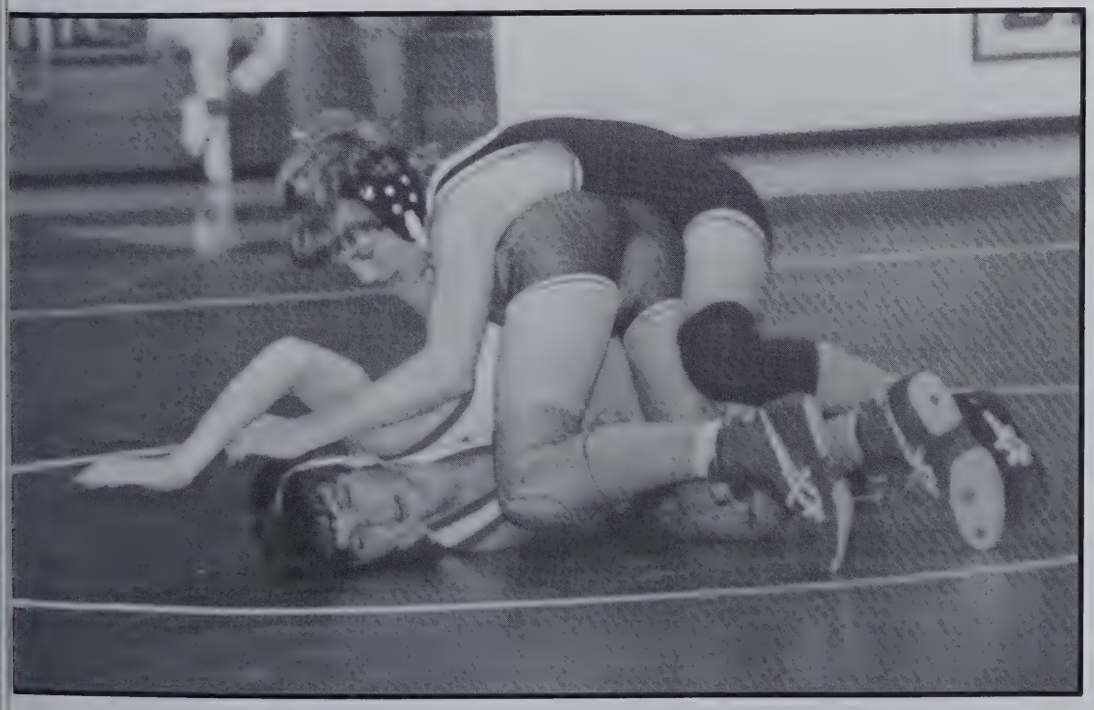
Several individual wrestlers made outstanding contributions. Eric Sanders, at 171 pounds, had the best record. Fourteen of Eric's wins were by decision. He placed first at sectional and second at conference and East Noble. Eric ended his high school career with a third place finish at the Carroll regional.

Greg Camp, at 125 pounds, was the other sectional champ. Greg, whose record was 21-7, led the team with most points scored (324), most takedowns (51), most escapes (25), and tied Richard Worman and Mike Carper for most 3 point near falls (11).

Other varsity marks were recorded by Jeremy Bowers, fastest fall (23 seconds); Richard Worman, most falls (15) and most 2 point near falls (7); and Andy Oberlin, most reversals (28).

Besides Camp and Sanders, who were sectional champs, the following Barons placed. Second place finishes were achieved by Jason Mossing (112 pounds), Richard Worman (119), Jeremy Bowers (152), and Brandon McBrier (189). Heavyweight Garry Handshoe placed third, and Andy Oberlin (103) and Mike Carper (145) placed fourth.

The junior varsity team had a 3-7 season. Having the best record was 125 pounder Tom Chelf at 6-0. Jason Mossing (103) had the fastest fall of 10 seconds. Wrestling at 125 pounds, sophomore Scott Johnson scored the most points (152) and also had the most takedowns (20) and escapes (14).



TRYING TO TURN his opponent from Carroll is freshman Andy Oberlin, who scored 260 varsity points on the way to a 16-13 record.

"It's worth it, for you find out a lot about yourself and what you're made of."

Fantastic

Gymnasts Flip Over 11-3 Best-Ever Season

"Everyone set goals this year and I think they were all accomplished."

HIGH ABOVE THE BEAM, Chelsea Pinkerton concentrates on her landing.

Fantastic is one word that could be used to describe the season experienced by the gymnastics team. With their 11-3 season being the best in DHS history, their only three losses were to state powerhouses Snider, Wawasee, and Homestead.

Although the team got started slowly, they peaked exactly when Coach Cheryl Gilbert wanted them to when they placed second to Homestead in the conference meet by scoring a season-high 93.65.

Shelby Davidson was the NHC champ in floor and second on bars and all-around. Kelly Meyer's second place beam routine helped boost her to fourth all-around in the conference. Chelsea Pinkerton placed third on the beam in the NHC. Kelley Meyer was the only Baron at regional by virtue of her fifth place on the beam at sectional.

A new individual school record was set by Shelby Davidson against New Haven when she totaled 32.75 all-around points. Kelly Meyer set a new record for the most no-fall beam routines with 13, helping the team set its new mark at 25, smashing 1989's record of 18.

The reserve gymnasts also had a fantastic year, the best in DHS reserve history, losing only to Snider. They broke the record for team totals four times, setting the new mark at 75.50. They also established new school records for event totals with 18.50 on the beam vs. Snider and 20.60 on the floor vs. New Haven.

Three individual reserve school records were also scored. Diana Purvis got 24.5 points in the all-around against New Haven. Chanda Conkle's 7.0 against Leo in bars and 7.2 vs. New Haven in floor were also new reserve school records.

WORKING THE BARS are three gymnasts (clockwise from upper left) Amy Brown, Chanda Conkle, and Kelly Meyer. Brown was one of the two seniors on the team; Conkle, a freshman, set two new reserve records; and Meyer became the only Baron to go to regional by placing fifth on beam at sectional.

WORKING THE BEAM is junior Shelby Davidson, who was Northeast Hoosier Conference champ on floor and second all-around.

Highlights

State Finalist; NHC Championship Top List

"This year we achieved something that no other DeKalb track team has since 1975."

All members of the boys track team were successful, but some were more successful than others. Cal Bowers was the most successful of all. "Qualifying for state and placing is a dream of everyone. Luckily I had the chance to do that in my career," said Cal. Although his throw of 57'10" at state wasn't as good as his school record throw of 59'6½", it was good enough to place him second in the state meet. Cal was also named the MVP at the Goshen Relays.

But Cal wasn't the only winner on the team. They all were, as the team won the conference championship and lost only one dual meet.

They won the conference with team depth, since Bowers in the shot put was the only conference champ. Placing second were Bowers, discus; Derrick Bowers, high hurdles; Jeremy Shankster, 800 meters and 1600 meters; Cha Sorg, 400 meters; and the 1600 mete relay team of Sorg, Chad Wolff, Set Paske, and Shankster. Sorg's 50.83 tim at conference was a new school recor

Also placing in the conference wer Tim Blomeke, third in pole vault; Jaso Washler, third in 1600 and 3200 meter third place for the 400 meter relay tea of Blomeke, Wolff, Sorg, and Dwayn Leininger; Derrick Bowers, third in lo hurdles; Leininger, fourth in 100 mete dash and fifth in long jump; Doug Ke ley, fifth in high jump; and Collier Ca non, fifth in 3200 meters.

Doug Kelley summed up the feelin of many on the team when he sai "What I think I will remember from th year's track team is how we worked t gether to achieve our goal to win confe ence, and I would like to thank our se iors for their leadership."

UP AND OVER he goes. Pole vaulter Tim Blomeke clears the bar. Tim's best vault of 12'6" was reached twice during the season.

Amburgey Makes Encore Trip To State Finals

Not all of the girls track teams in the state of Indiana were represented at the state meet, but DeKalb was. Senior Michelle Amburgey made her second trip to the state finals after finishing fourth at the regional in the 300 hurdles. DHS's other regional participant, Missy Lyne, took part in both distance races, narrowly missing a trip to state when she finished sixth in the 3200 meters. During the season, Lyne established new school records in the 1600 meter (5:31.3) and the 3200 meter (11:51) races.

In dual meets the girls finished with a 5-4 record and a fourth place in the Northeast Hoosier Conference. Michelle Amburgey was NHC champ in the 300 hurdles and runner-up in the 100 hurdles. Lyne was also NHC runner-up, this time in the 3200 meters.

Members of the team and their season-best times and distances are as follows: Michelle Amburgey, 100 hurdles (15.1), 300 hurdles (45.9), and long jump (15'6½"); Kelly Morrow, 100 meters (12.8) and 200 meters (27.4); Darlene Schoudel, 400 meters (1:07.6); Jenny Recker, 800 meters (2:33.3); Kari Price, high jump (4'7"); Rachel Sarbacker, shot put (26'9"); and Shannen Amburgey, discus (105'10"). The 400 meter relay team of Amburgey, Schlosser, Hartman, and Morrow had a best time of 52.6. The 1600 meter relay team of Schoudel, Conrad, Reinoehl, and Scholler recorded their best time at 4:40.

The end of the season found the team feeling good about what they had accomplished and the underclassmen were looking forward to preparing themselves to do even better in the following year.

"We all worked hard this year to reach our goals."

MICHELLE Amburgey, shown above, ran the 300 meter hurdles at regional in 46.31 seconds for a fourth place finish and a trip to state.

Singles Players Are Key To Winning Record

"The closeness of the team helped us to accomplish a great and enjoyable season."

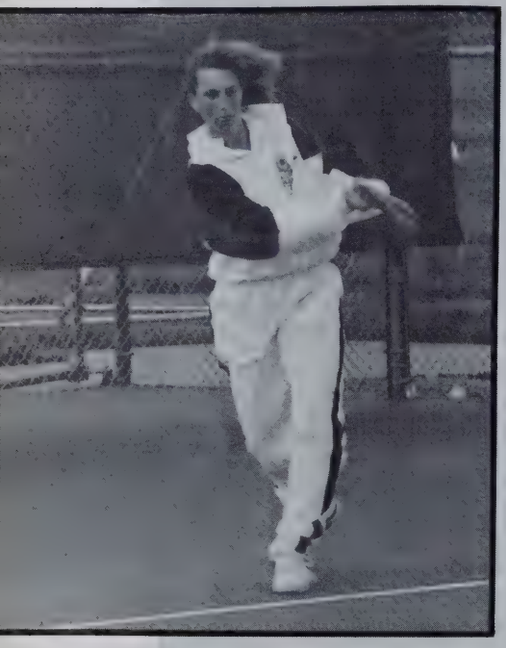
The girls tennis team opened the year by winning their first eight dual matches before losing to state powerhouse and conference rival Homestead. They ended up 6-1 in the NHC and 14-3 overall, the other two losses being to Snider in the last regular season match and to West Noble in the sectional finals. They tied the record for most wins in a season and had the highest winning percentage in DHS history. In invitationals they placed 4th at DeKalb and 3rd at Angola.

Strong singles play was the key for the season with all three singles players having very good records. At number one, Lisa Wrona had a 20-4 record. In only one of her wins was she forced to go into the third set, against Hartman of Snider. Wrona was 5th at DeKalb and 3rd at Angola.

Sarah Schmidt, number two singles had a 20-3 record. The only three se match she had all year was one she los to Kounbandith of Elmhurst in an 8-1(tie-breaker. Schmidt was 3rd at DeKal and 5th at Angola.

The best singles record of 21-2 wa earned by Melissa Sutton at numbe three. She placed first at both DeKal and Angola. Both of her losses were i three set matches.

The doubles players had a roughe year. Number one doubles Doni Korf (4-18) and number two doubles Juli Harris (11-12) traded partners abou half-way into the season. Anne Robert (9-14) and Brooke Henderson (7-15 were the other two doubles players.



NUMBER ONE singles Lisa Wrona returns the ball during warmups. Wrona had a 20-4 season.

Young Team Struggles To Gain Experience

Young and inexperienced are two words that could well be used to describe the 1991 Baron golf team. After losing nearly all of the successful 1990 team to graduation, this year's team was sure to suffer in the comparison. Their varsity record was 3-8. The lone senior, Tyler Barhydt, had seen only limited competition the year before. The end of the season found the young Barons hungry to get in lots of practice over the summer to prepare themselves for another year of hopefully more successful competition.

Only one player had a score of less than 40. Chris Skelding shot a score of 39 in the Garrett match for the best score of the year. He also had 40 stroke twice. These low scores helped him to ward his team-best average of 43.7.

Shooting a 43 for his best score thre different times was Andy Hayes, whos season average was 45.9. There was a ti for the third-best average on the team Both Tyler Barhydt and Eric John ha average scores of 46.5. For both of then their best score for the year was 42.

The reserve team had a better recor than the varsity, with an 11-2 mark They posted wins over South Side, Eas Noble, Garrett, New Haven, Leo, Bell mont, Norwood, Columbia City, Ango la, and twice over Northrop.

PUTTING the ball on the first green, Eric Winebrenner hopes for a big score.

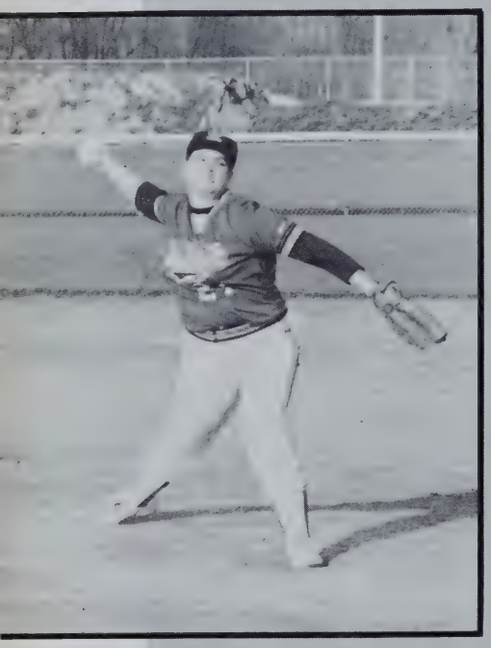
6-0 NHC Record Earns Championship For Barons

"We all made sacrifices for the team, instead of striving for individual glory."



FINISHING her senior year with an outstanding ERA of .633, pitcher Kerrie Quickery fires one toward the plate.

The Lady Baron softball team, by virtue of their 6-0 record in the NHC were conference champs. Although they split their first two games with New Haven, those were games scheduled at the last minute after both teams had had other games cancelled, and they did not count in the conference race.

The team was 1 and 1 in their two games against Garrett, but they lost the one that really mattered, in the opening game of the sectional, bringing an early end to an otherwise very successful season.

Many players had outstanding years on the way to a 19-4 record. Three players were named to the NHC first team: pitcher Kerrie Quickery, infielder Joy Kroemer, and outfielder Julie McKean.

Kerrie Quickery was the starting pitcher 16 times, completing 14 games. She pitched in 99 innings, facing 391 batters, giving up 52 hits and 22 runs, 9 of them earned for an ERA of .633 for a 13-3 record. She struck out 120 batters while walking only 19. Her sister Holly was the starting pitcher seven times, when she wasn't playing in the infield, where she was named to the NHC second team. Her record was 6-1 as a pitcher. She also had a .339 batting average and a .940 fielding average.

Infielder Joy Kroemer helped both offensively and defensively, batting .521 and leading the team with 30 RBI's. She had a fielding percentage of .960.

Outfielder Julie McKean's errorless fielding was added to her outstanding .406 batting average to place her on the all-NHC first team. Senior infielder Julie Whittington, who made the second team, had a .344 batting average. Catcher Jenny Holt's batting average was .368 to help the team's combined average to a healthy .326.

WILL THE CATCHER have time to tag her out? Julie McKean seems sure to slide in for another Baron run.

Looking Up

Reserves Combine For 24-5-1 Season Record

Judging from the junior varsity results, the future looks bright for softball and baseball at DHS. The softball team was loaded with talent. They were 5-0 in conference play. Strong pitching by Angie Boyd (8-1, 2 shut outs) and Angie Skelly (2-1, 1 shut out) combined with a strong defense by LeAnn Boyles, Nicole Whittington, M.C. Gengnagel, Kathi Blotkamp, Steph Sprague, Angie Wallace, and Tara Rathburn helped the Barons to three shut outs and several no hitters. Nicole Barnhart, Tami Doden, Cari Bonecutter, and Brandy Shuherk led the offense with solid hitting to score 185 runs. Tiffany Cook, Jennifer Pressler, Karla Kelleher, and Jaimi Tompkins kept the Barons aggressive on the bases with several stolen bases.

The junior varsity baseball team did nearly as well, being 5-1 in conference play. The team set goals and met most of them. The goals (and results) are as follows: winning percentage — 75 (77); winning streak — 7 (11); team batting average — .292 (.308); errors per game — 2.5 (2.6); ERA — 3.25 (3.18); and walks per game — 3.5 (3.15).

Many players made their individual contributions to this success. At bat, the top hitters were Scott Greer (.441), Steve Blomeke (.366), Brad Rudolph (.354), and Grant Detrick and Eric Fritz (.333). There were just two home runs — one each by Bob Sweeney and Brian Finn. Leading the team with 14 of the total 94 stolen bases was Grant Detrick.

There were five pitchers of record: Bob Sweeney (3-1), Todd Likens (2-1), Jake Baker (4-0), Brad Rudolph (4-1), and Scott Greer (1-0).

"Overall we had a great season especially the slip-and-slide after a hot practice."

READY on the defense is junior Nicole Barnhart, a key member of the reserve softball team.

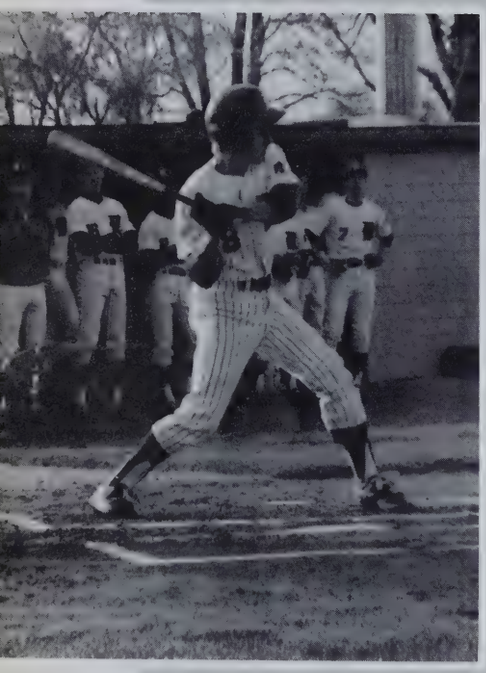
New Lights

Night Baseball Doesn't Bring Winning Record

"This year's team was one with many disappointments and lack of execution."



SENIOR JIM LESLIE prepares to make contact with the ball, hoping for another hit.

The 1991 baseball season will be remembered for several things. First of all, with a new lighting system installed, the first night game was played on Baron field. Also, fewer home runs were hit, partly the result of the fences being moved farther from home plate.

It was also the first year since Coach Bill Jones came to DHS that Baron baseball did not have a winning record. Their 14-16 mark fell just short. Although there were some seniors on the team, underclassmen played many of the positions and their youth and inexperience was often painfully obvious.

The team had a batting average of .246. Players with an average over .300 were Andy LaTurner (.317), Todd Stayer (.312), and Jim Leslie (.309). Leslie was the RBI leader with 14. Kadish Evans had 13 RBI's and Todd Likens and Stu Kruse had 10 each. Likens and Scott Pettis had the only two home runs. Kadish Evans led the team in drawing a base on balls, getting a walk 46 times.

The pitching stats included a team ERA of 4.078. Carrying the heaviest load of pitching duties, Shane Marshall ended the year with 8 wins, 6 losses, and 1 save. His ERA of 2.839 was the team's best. Kadish Evans and Scott Bebout both had 2-2 records.

Senior Stu Kruse summed up the year as follows: "There's no doubt about it. The season was tough. But bringing Coach Jones his 1000th career and 500th spring victories made the season one to be remembered."

WHOA! Coach Bill Jones puts up the stop sign as Kadish Evans motors into third base.

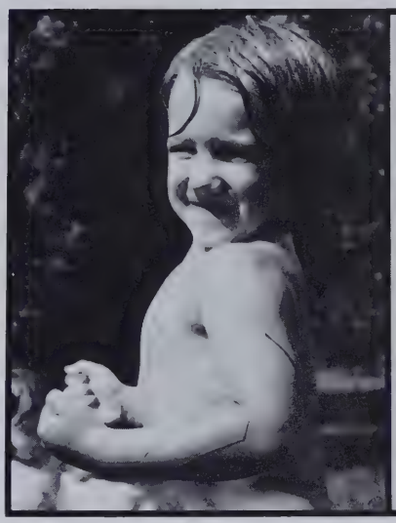
TIMOTHY DAVID STORMS

You have made us so very proud of you. We know you will remain the good Christian you are now.
We love you very much.

Love — Mom & Dad



DAVID TEEGARDIN

When people are changing their lives, sometimes it's hard to understand each other.
You're struggling for independence; I'm struggling to let you go. Just remember, we'll always love you.

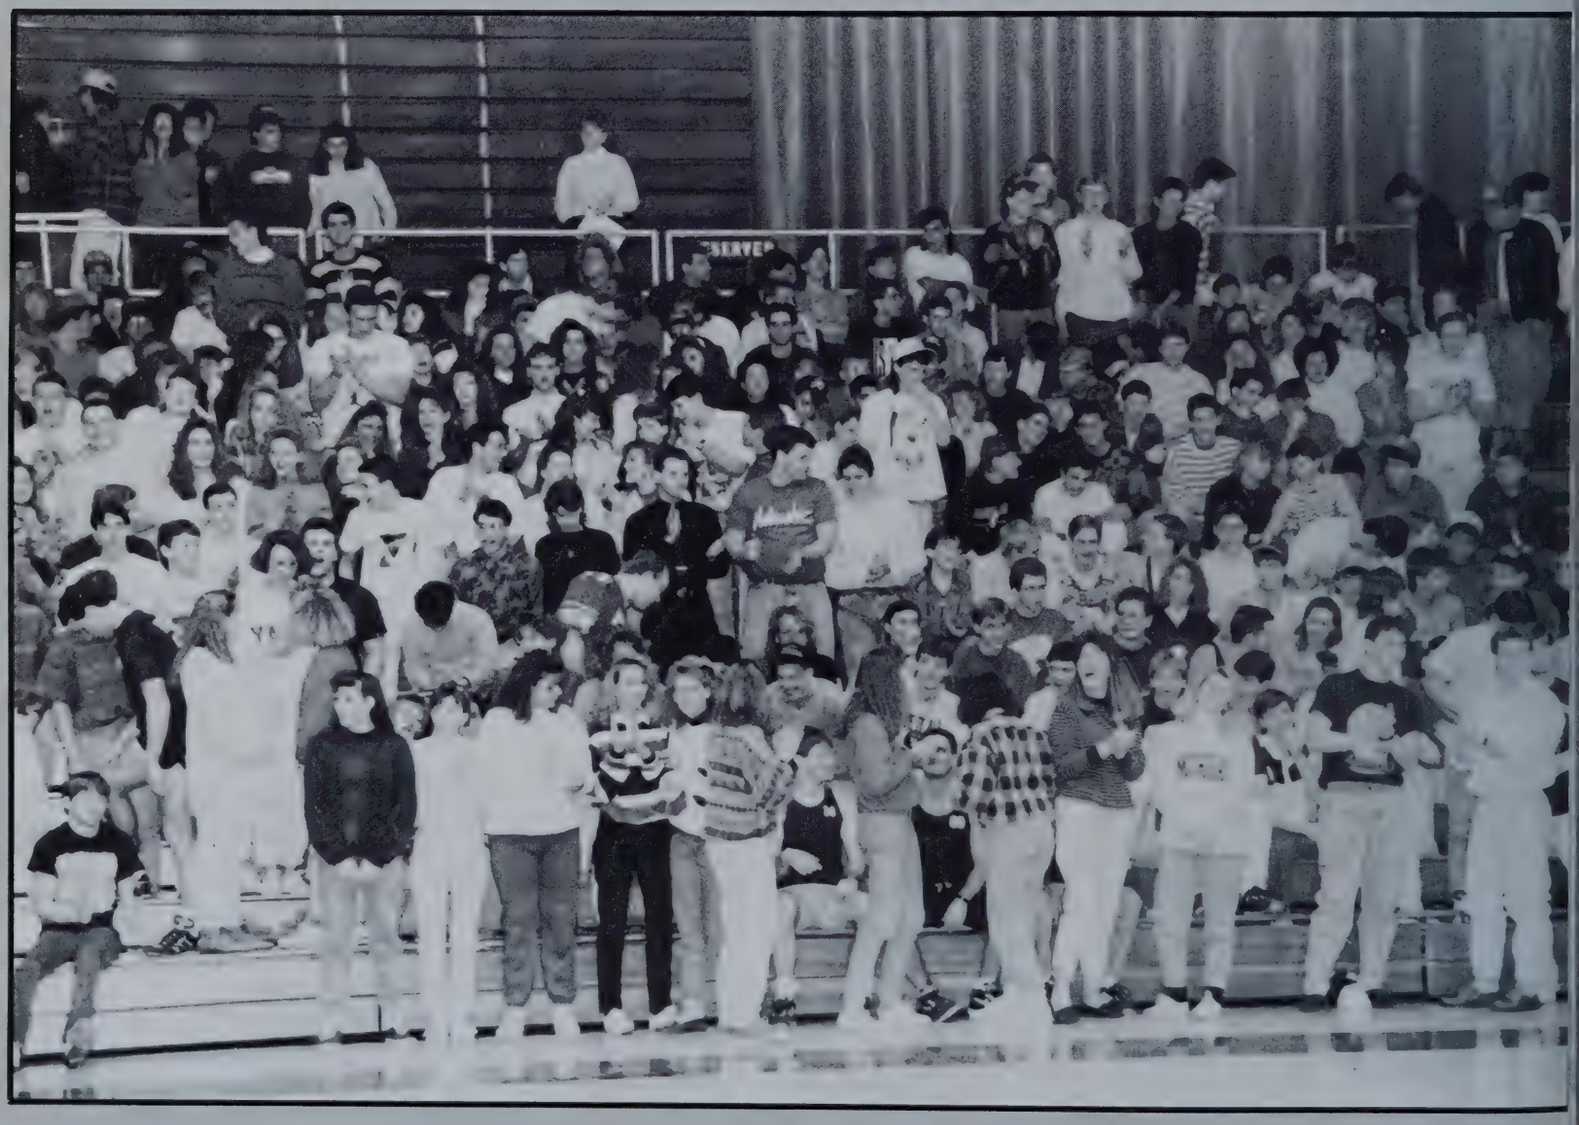
DON'T TAKE A FATAL STEP was the message as a mock accident was staged in the parking lot during prom week — complete with EMS and helicopter.

WE ALL TOOK STEPS to get together for several programs throughout the year. Here, everyone seems to be enjoying themselves at a convocation in the gym.



A STEP ABOVE THE REST

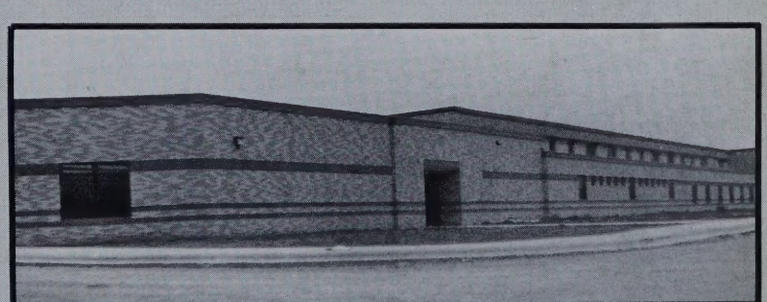
STEPPING FORWARD at the final convo, Holly Quickery decorates the face of DARE officer Rick Getts. Several teachers were also "honored" by students who had bid for the right to do so.

A STEP ABOVE THE REST! Although this claim is difficult to prove, we did it — at least as far as the Northeast Hoosier Conference is concerned. On the basis of points awarded in all of the various conference activities, both athletic and academic, DHS finished ahead of the seven other schools with 118½ total points. Homestead was second with 108½ points.

As the year ended, the construction project seemed to be nearly done. The lawn in front of the school had been sodded and memorial trees for Eric Wolfe and Mike Carper had been planted. We had all suffered through the last few weeks of school when the outside temperature was unusually warm for May — and no air conditioning!

Then came that long-awaited Sunday, June 2, when the seniors finally could claim their diplomas, a final memory of their days at DeKalb High School.

So, as we said before: No matter what our individual memories might be, as a group the year saw DHS constantly striving to do our best to stay ... A STEP ABOVE THE REST!



AS THE FINAL STEPS of the construction moved ahead, DHS presented a new face to the public.

Thanks . . .

The staff of the 1991 SABER would like to thank those people who helped with this yearbook: Mr. Mark Childs, Jostens Printing and Publishing Division's representative, for his always-available assistance; Studio One, the senior photographer; Lifetouch National School Studios, the underclass photographer; and the many companies and sponsors who provided financial assistance.

We would also like to give special recognition to teachers Mrs. Betty Stomm and Mr. Niles Walton, both of whom retired this year. During their years at DHS, both were strong supporters and friends of the yearbook.

Finally, the staff would like to extend its sympathy to the family and friends of Mike Carper and Eric Wolfe.

. . . etc.

The 1991 SABER is 9 x 12 and contains 212 pages. The cover is a litho cover with shades of black, medium blue, and red foil combined in an original design planned by the yearbook staff. The endsheets are white with black printed in a design on the front endsheet. The typeface is Times Roman in 12 point for body copy and 10 point for most captions. Other sizes ranging from 8 points to 144 points were also used. Several different headline styles are used throughout the book.
